PRAISE FOR PITTSBURGH

As Art Center It May Repeat the History of Venice, Says East.

IS ESTEEMED ABROAD

Foreigners Appreciate the High Standard Set by Carnegie Institute Exhibition.

JUROR COTTET HAS ARRIVED

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU, Herald Building, Herald Square, NEW YORK, Oct. 8.

Praises of American art and of American architecture were spoken today by two distinguished artists, Charles Cottet of Paris and Alfred East of London, who are in the city on their way to Pittsburgh, where they will be members of the jury at the annual exhibition of the Carnegie institute. They spent the day driving about the city in company with Mr. John Beatty, director of the institute founded by Andrew Carnegie. Mr. East said today:

"I have come 3,000 miles to see the exhibition at Pittsburgh. I feel bound by every duty to serve on the jury. Then I have been asked to stay on till the Founder's day, November 1. I much regret I cannot do so, as it is imperative I return to England.

"I don't think you Americans are aware of the high appreciation in which this exhibition is held in Europe. A glance at its catalogue will convince you there is a reason for it, and should enlighten any one as to the high standard it has attained. It is curious to find such a high standard of art in a city that may be called a city of hard work and strenuous endeavor, but perhaps that is the reason, after all.

May Rival Venice.

"There is one extreme which its able director, Mr. Beatty, always keeps before him—a desire to keep up the high standard which has been established during the past years. I should be proud of such an institution as the Carnegie institute if I were a Pittsburgher. It is a high privilege for its citizens to take the interest in it that they do. It reflects credit upon the city, and it does much more to enhance her reputation as a center of culture, in the minds of educated people, than even her great reputation in the manufacture of steel.

"Some time ago I was representing England in a similar capacity in Venice, and at a banquet the mayor gave to the foreign delegates, I said history had proved the value of art, for when the past great commercial interests of Venice had been forgotten, the glory of its art had increased.

"Who can say that in the future people may not come from all parts of this great country to visit the future exhibitions of Pittsburgh and the institution which has been founded for the encouragement of art.

"Art in this country is not bound down by traditions. Considering the attention paid in this country to great engineering projects and to material things, I often wonder art should have flourished at all, yet it has attained the highest standards.

Praises Own Architecture.

"One thing which has especially impressed me in revisiting New York, which I have not seen for 14 years, is the wonderful development of American architecture. The best architect is the one who adapts his building the most to the use for which it is intended. The skyscrapers in this city have a distinctive style, and they are wonderfully adapted to the purposes for which they were constructed.

"The city of New York is in a state of transition, and for that reason we see small buildings near high ones. It was evidently the intention of the architects that the high buildings should be supported, that other buildings equally high would one day be built nearer them, for here in America architects do not build merely with the needs of the present. For that reason I think that the Flatiron is a wonderful building, and one day it may be entirely in harmony with its surroundings, despite the irregularity of the plot of ground on which it is built. I notice, too, that there is a uniformity of architecture in the high buildings in the financial district of the city."

M. Cottet Is Charmed.

M. Cottet, who speaks only French, said he was delighted by the everchanging colors of New York.

"I am much interested," he said, "and I have from a distance noticed the rich color scheme presented by the houses of the city, the roofs and the walls of the buildings. And yet I have heard you Americans say all this is unpaintable. The richness of color is, on the contrary, fascinating—the delicate shadings into gold and warm tints.

"I was much interested today and charmed by your Trinity building on which I observed the soft light as it shone upon the walls through the delicate tracery of the leaves of the churchyard trees. And then the statue of Liberty, and the Brooklyn bridge, and the changing river beneath it. Truly I am charmed by this, your city of New York."

AFTER FRENCH CONTRACTS.

The Standard Pressed Steel Car Company Appoints Paris Representative to Try to Secure Them.

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—(Special.)—The Standard Pressed Steel Company is after some big French contracts. The company has appointed H Glaenzer and Perreand of Paris as its representatives in that part of the world.

Interesting contracts have recently been secured from Holland, Spain and South America.

KILLS THREE MEN AND MANY HORSES

Train Collision Near Harrisburg Causes Death and Destruction.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

HARRISBURG, Oct. 8.—Three men were killed and one injured and a carload of race horses killed or maimed in a wreck on the Northern Central railway one mile below Millersburg this morning. A northbound freight train parted and the cabin and the horse car fell behind and were run into by a passenger train known as the Northern accommodation. James Scott, fireman, of Sunbury, jumped from the engine when he saw it was impossible to avoid a collision. He was caught under the wreckage and was crushed to death. Julius Leist, the engineer, of Sunbury, remained at his post and escaped with slight injuries. Charles Berry, conductor, and J. Heungershot, brakeman of the freight train, who were in the cabin, were killed. The wreckage took fire and their bodies were consumed by the flames.

The horses belonged to several eastern dealers and were on their way to the Bloomsburg fair. Most of the animals that were not killed outright in the collision were so badly maimed that they will have to be shot. Harry Peters of Harrisburg, flagman of the passenger train, ran back as soon as the collision occurred and flagged a fast express train bound south just three minutes before it was due at the scene of the wreck. The dead were taken to Sunbury.

Much excitement was caused in this city today by the report that the train carrying the State college football team to State college from the game here yesterday with the Carlisle Indians had been wrecked and that several of the students were injured. This proved incorrect.

MUTINY CAUSES LOSS OF WARSHIP

Japanese Sailors Resent Peace Terms and Officers Blow Up the Vessel.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

VICTORIA, B. C., Oct. 8.—The steamer Tartar, which arrived yesterday, brought news from Japan that the story was current that the accident to the battleship Mikasa, at Sasebo, was occasioned as a result of a mutiny on board because of the resentment by the crew of the peace terms.

Robert W. Collins, who represented the Associated Press with Kuroki's army throughout the campaign, and who was a passenger on the Tartar, says the story was given some credence in diplomatic circles in Japan. Mr. Collins said the report was the men had mutinied and attempted to secure the ship, when some officers fired the magazine. Soon after the disaster Admiral Togo went to Tokyo to lay a report of the occurrence before the emperor.

The project, the paper says, includes the building of barracks throughout the country for the new force, with special depots, and that it is proposed to entrust home defenses to the yeomanry and volunteers and the defense of the coasts to the royal garrison artillery.

STATE GAVE LIBERALLY

Berry Tries to Deceive Concerning Penn's Charitable Work.

MILLIONS GIVEN AWAY

J. Lee Plummer Gives the Allegheny County Hospitals the Promised Square Deal.

MUCH MONEY FOR THE INSANE

William H. Berry, the Prohibition-Democratic candidate for state treasurer, and some of the men appearing on the stump with him, are nightly telling the few people they address that the last legislature treated the hospitals and insane asylums of the state shabbily, so the money could be kept for the "favored" banks. They either have not examined the appropriations of the session of 1905 or are deliberately lying.

The last legislature gave with a liberal hand to the hospitals and to those institutions where the insane, feebleminded, the deaf, the dumb and the blind are cared for. The appropriations are in excess of other years. In but one or two cases has there been any complaint about the treatment of hospitals, and in all of these instances there were good reasons for the appropriations committee taking the action it did.

J. Lee Plummer, the Republican candidate for state treasurer, was chairman of the house appropriations committee. Every institution applying for state aid had to show it was doing public good. Although millions of dollars of the state's money was apportioned by this committee, but one act of the body has been questioned. The only time the Democrats allow themselves to grow specific is in regard to the $20,000 appropriation to erect a monument to the late Senator M. S. Quay.

Plummer Kept His Promise.

No complaint is heard in Allegheny county about the work of Chairman Plummer. At the opening of the last session there was much said about the way the hospitals and homes in this county had been treated in former sessions. Chairman Plummer gave his word the county would get a fair deal. He kept his promise.

In 1903 the appropriations for hospitals and homes in this county totaled $659,500. Chairman Plummer reported in favor of giving these institutions $1,127,000, or an increase of $461,500. On the floor of the house he agreed to some further increases. When Gov. S. W. Pennypacker had completed his work of paring the appropriations down to the revenues of the state, Allegheny county institutions received $861,500. An increase of $332,000 in one county shows Berry is not familiar with the facts. Mr. Plummer also secured appropriations for several Allegheny county institutions that had not been receiving state aid. Among the number were the Pittsburgh Hospital for Children, $50,000; J. M. Gusky Hebrew orphanage, $5,000, and the Presbyterian hospital, $20,000.

Insane Well Treated.

The insane of Pennsylvania were well treated, as this table will show:

Pennsylvania Training School for Feeble Minded Children, Elwyn	270,000
Total	$4,688,800
Increase over appropriations of 1903	1,057,292

The deaf, dumb and blind institutions received $508,250 from the last legislature. In the previous session they had been allowed $502,900.

Motorman Fatally Hurt.

HUNTINGTON, W. VA., Oct. 8.—(Special.)—Two street cars on the Camden Interstate railway collided here early this morning in a heavy fog. F. H. Whitcomb, a motorman, was fatally injured.

BIGELOW TEARS DOWN TABLET BEARING M'CANDLESS' NAME

Achievements by Predecessor Are Not Pleasing to the Director and His Orders Result in Speedy and Effective Obliteration.

By order of Director Bigelow the handsome bronze tablet which bears the name of Mr. Bigelow's predecessor, Dr. J. Guy McCandless, has been torn from the wall of the new Highland reservoir No. 2, where it had stood since the reservoir was completed in 1902, while Dr. McCandless was director of public works.

The tablet was affixed to the wall of the gate house where it was conspicuous to sightseers. One day when Director Bigelow went to the reservoir to inspect the work of the big 50-inch South Side water main, which is to be connected with the new reservoir, he noticed the tablet with the name of his predecessor standing out in bold relief. Director Bigelow frowned in displeasure, and the next day workmen appeared and tore the tablet from its fastenings.

The spot where the tablet was secured was then chiseled off to obliterate the holes made by the fastenings. The chiseling process has defaced the wall to some extent and arouses inquiries on the part of visitors to the reservoir.

The placing of the names of the head officers of departments on public buildings erected during their administration has long been a custom in this and other cities, and the action of Director Bigelow in having the name of Director McCandless erased has caused considerable comment.

To say nothing of his monument, which stands at the entrance to Schenley park, the name of Director Bigelow graces a plate on the new Point bridge and other public works constructed while he has been at the head of the public works department. The new public safety building in Sixth avenue is a monument to J. O. Brown, who was director of the department when the building was erected, his name being inscribed in large gilt letters on a marble slab at the main entrance.

Director Bigelow, however, will not consent to Dr. McCandless obtaining any glory from the new Highland reservoir, although the reservoir was the subject of much criticism and somewhat of a scandal when it was completed. Director Bigelow being one of those who exposed its condition by announcing the discovery of immense leaks in the basin. Since he became director the second time Mr. Bigelow has ceased to talk about the new reservoir.

HURT GOING TO CHRISTENING

M. A. Ignelzi, His Wife and Son Are Injured by Carriage Falling Over an Embankment.

WOMAN'S CONDITION SERIOUS

Three persons were seriously injured and two others had narrow escapes by the overturning of a carriage on Arbor street yesterday morning. The injured are:

M. A. IGNELZI, a contractor of 312 Larimer avenue; left arm badly wrenched and bruised, little finger nearly severed, severely bruised about the body.

MRS. M. IGNELZI, wife of M. A. Ignelzi; severely bruised; was rendered unconscious for over three hours and is still in a serious condition.

AMERICA IGNELZI, three-year-old son; deep cut on right cheek and badly bruised about the head and shoulders.

The accident happened near the junction of Arbor street and Lincoln avenue, where there is a steep bank over 20 feet high dropping from Arbor to Lincoln. Mr. Ignelzi, with his wife, his son, America, and Alice Berlino and a six-months-old sister, daughters of Charles Berlino of 1211 Arbor street, were going to the Italian Roman Catholic church on Mayflower street to have the child christened, Mr. and Mrs. Ignelzi acting as godfather and godmother.

As the carriage neared Lincoln avenue one of the horses either took fright or slipped and in his efforts to recover his foothold frightened his mate, and the two swung the carriage over the brink of the hill.

Mr. Ignelzi was holding the baby in his arms, and, as he felt the carriage begin to overturn, threw himself on his side and attempted to open the door. His left arm was caught beneath as it slid down the hill, almost pulling it from the socket. Portions of the broken glass from the window struck his son, America, and severely cut his cheek, necessitating several stitches. Mrs. Ignelzi was rendered unconscious by striking against the side of the carriage when it brought up suddenly on the pavement.

Residents of the neighborhood ran to the assistance of the occupants. They were removed to a nearby house and Drs. Rogers and G. C. Anderson, who were summoned, worked with Mrs. Ignelzi for three hours before she regained consciousness. A carriage was secured and all were taken home. The horses escaped injury, but the carriage was badly damaged. At a late hour last night Mrs. Ignelzi was still in a serious condition, but the others were reported much improved.

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 8.—Satisfactory measures for the future preservation of order in the Baku oil fields were determined on today at a conference, under the presidency of Finance Minister Kokovsoff, of representatives of the government, the oil men and the industries which consume naphtha.

The oil men agreed to resume production. Their demand for the dismissal of all natives from the police and the organization of a force composed of Russians at the expense of the oil men was accepted. The troops at Baku, now numbering 9,000, will be distributed according to the suggestions of a committee of well owners for the protection of the fields and works.

SHOOTS ACROSS MOTHER'S BODY

Maddened Son, Debarred from House, Enters and Murders His Relatives.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

HASTINGS, NEB., Oct. 8.—Over the dead body of his mother, John Budenek shot his sister, his brother and his brother-in-law today. Miss Frances Budenek, aged 22 years, was shot in the right hand; Jacob Budenek, aged 32 years, received a bullet above the right eye, and Peter Smeall was shot through the left leg, through the abdomen, in the left thigh and through the left shoulder. The latter two are in a dying condition.

The shooting occurred in a death-chamber at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Peter Smeall, where Mrs. M. Budenek died last night, and was the culmination of a family quarrel that had existed for years. Mrs. Budenek was staying at the home of her daughter, Mrs. Peter Smeall, and because of the family trouble her son, John, was not permitted to see her during her illness. When John heard of his mother's death last night he determined to view the remains.

He secured entrance into the Smeall home through the kitchen. Making his way to the death-chamber, he entered and found the entire family surrounding the corpse, watching the undertaker prepare the remains. Advancing to the corpse, John placed his hands on the lifeless body and said: "This is my mother."

His sister, Frances, said something to him, whereupon he struck her. Then he drew a revolver and shot at his sister over the dead body of his mother. Before he could be overpowered he had shot his sister, his brother and his brother-in-law.

Six Embassies Make Reports Regarding European Control of Macedonia's Finances.

CONSTANTINOPLE, Oct. 8.—Collective reports of the six embassies regarding the financial control of Macedonia were handed to the porte yesterday. The financial delegates of the powers are proceeding to Uskub.

The porte has persisted in its unyielding attitude in regard to the financial control of Macedonia. Replying to the collective note of September 25 from the six powers, declaring that their decision to assume international control of the finances of Macedonia was unalterable, the porte reiterated what it regarded as insuperable objections to the scheme.

SPENT LAST NICKEL TO GET HIMSELF ARRESTED

NEW HAVEN, CONN., Oct. 8.—(Special.)—Curious, even in police annals, was the act of William Marlowe, who spent his last nickel yesterday to telephone for a patrol woman to bring himself to a cell. He learned the police were looking for him on a charge of breach of the peace against his wife. He went to a saloon, and with his last 5 cents called up the police station. He was sent to jail for six months.

YOUTHS OBSERVE HARVEST HOME

Annual Thanksgiving Offerings Are Laid on Weitershausen Church Altar.

In accordance with an ancient Mosaic custom the congregation of St. Paul's German Protestant (Weitershausen) church of Allegheny yesterday observed "Harvest day." It is an annual event in the church and is attended by some picturesque features aside from the religious services.

The day is one of thanksgiving and rejoicing and in recent years has become distinctly a children's day in Weitershausen church. Although the exercises are attended by the elders, only the children participate.

The church auditorium presented a most unique picture yesterday afternoon when nearly 30 children and many of their parents gathered to observe the annual occasion. To give it a real significance the children bring to the church altar the fruits of the harvest fields and orchards. These form a beautiful heap on the church altar and symbolize the harvest offerings of a grateful people. It is a pretty custom and many persons having no connection with the church attend to witness the festival exercises.

The Rev. August Reuter, pastor of the church, and John Heckel, superintendent of the Sabbath school, had charge of the exercises. There was special thanksgiving music and many of the children recited speeches and declamations. Edna Bourdon, Edna Voelkle, Catherine Egerter and Amelia Wack represented the seasons, spring, summer, autumn and winter, and their recitations were appropriate. The Rev. August Voss, pastor of the Smithfield Street Protestant church, preached the evening sermon.

WILL GET RID OF TROOPS.

Russia Is Expected to Send 300,000 Soldiers to Chinese Frontier, Fearing Malcontents at Home.

TOKYO, Oct. 8.—It is reported here that Russia will station 300,000 troops on the Chinese frontier after peace has been declared, partly because she is apprehensive of the soldiers joining the malcontents at home and partly for intimidation of the Chinese.

It is expected that the railway obtained by the Japanese from Kwang-tsi-tze southward, although it will require an initial investment of about $15,000,000, will ultimately be a paying property, chiefly because of the revenues derived from the Yentai and Fushun collieries.

HUGE COAL DEAL TO GO THROUGH

Jones & Laughlin to Take Up Option on 16,000 Acres in Washington.

$4,000,000 INVOLVED IN SALE

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]
WASHINGTON, PA., Oct. 8.—The Jones & Laughlin Company of Pittsburgh will Tuesday take up one of the largest blocks of coal ever secured by one firm in Washington county. The tract comprises 16,000 acres and is located in West Bethlehem and Amwell townships. It is at present held by the Jones Brothers, extensive independent coal operators.

The Jones & Laughlin concern took the options on this block for $250 an acre, the total price being $4,000,000. The options expire October 10, and it is reliably stated the sale will be closed on that date.

The Jones Brothers took up about 13,000 acres of this large territory of coal five years ago at an average price of $20 an acre. While some of it sold as high as $25 and $30 an acre, the bulk was secured as low as $16 an acre. Recently they added 3,000 acres to their former holdings in order to make a compact block of coal in this territory. The block is located near developed fields. This last tract was secured at an average of $100 an acre.

The Jones & Laughlin Company less than a year ago had but 7,000 acres of coal territory in Washington county. Within the past few months they purchased 9,000 acres from Thompson, Seamans & Co. of Uniontown at $333 an acre, one of the highest figures ever quoted for Washington county coal not along the Monongahela river. This block lies in the boroughs of Centerville, Deemston and Beallsville and East Bethlehem township and adjoins the large block now held by Jones Brothers.

The Jones & Laughlin Company is one of the largest coal operators in Washington county. Two years ago this concern mined 1,100,000 tons of coal in 12 months. During the present summer they have been shipping down the Monongahela river 70,000 tons a week. This would be at the rate of 3,500,000 tons a year. Taking into consideration that a portion of the year is dull, it is estimated the past 12 months will show that 2,000,000 tons of coal has been mined in this county by this company, or double the output of the year preceding.

As the coal vein in East Pike Run and West Pike Run townships is seven feet in thickness—from one to one and a half feet thicker than the average Pittsburgh vein of coal, it is safe to estimate that the Jones & Laughlin Company is mining at the rate of 10 acres of coal per week, or 500 acres per year. As the concern holds but 15,000 acres of coal land, its present mills, without figuring on any increase for the future, would consume this entire coal territory within 30 years. It is therefore evident the Jones & Laughlin Company will take up the options on the 16,000 additional acres held by the Jones Brothers.

The Jones & Laughlin Company is the largest independent steel company in the United States, and it is expected that within the next few years they will largely increase their steel operations. Should the deal be consummated on October 10 the Jones Brothers will realize from $3,000,000 to $4,000,000 on their holdings in less than a period of five years.

JEWISH GIRL AGITATOR ARRESTED AT CAPITAL

Police of Washington Say the Young Woman Is a Cause of Annoyance to President Roosevelt.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]
WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—A young woman claiming to be Nadage Doree, a Russian Jewess, who says she has spent the greater part of her life in New York city, was arrested here today while distributing circulars at the entrance of St. John's church.

The young woman has been in Washington since Thursday, and on several occasions had visited the White House in an effort to see the President. The police say she has been a cause of annoyance.

The police say the woman had visited President Roosevelt at Oyster Bay and had given him a book dealing with the religious and political conditions in Russia. She will be given a hearing in the police court tomorrow.

The matron of the house of detention said the girl was simply earnest in her efforts to get the President's aid in helping the oppressed Jews of her native land.

ONE OF GRANT'S OFFICERS IS DYING IN NEW YORK

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—Gen. William Thomas Clark, only surviving adjutant general and chief of staff of Gen. Grant's Army of the Tennessee, is dying from cancer in St. Luke's hospital. He was brought from his home in Washington to this city two weeks ago in the hope that an operation would save his life. Dr. B. Farquhar Curtis performed the operation, but the advanced age of Gen. Clark, who is 75 years old, and the extent of the malady prevented him from rallying. It was said tonight that there was practically no hope of the general's recovery.

MR. ROCKEFELLER TALKS ON CROPS

Tells Sunday School Children of Personal Virtues They May Cultivate.

HE FEELS LIKE A SPONGE

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]
CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 8.—In his closing talk to the Sunday school class of the Euclid Avenue Baptist church, of which he is superintendent, John D. Rockefeller today made a comparison of the crops that grow in the field and the crops that may be cultivated by each person. Mr. Rockefeller referred to personal virtues, and in part he said:

"I don't know how many of you children have been in the country this year, but many of you have come to see me at my home and have made me happy. I want to ask you what crops you have harvested this year?

"I won't find fault if you have not done very well, nor if you have forgotten, for we older ones do the same thing, but struggle along again and resolve to do better. I want to suggest to you children that you foster the spirit that prompts us to speak a kindly word and that extends the hand heartily.

"Some of us have not had much education, some of us never graduated from college, but we can raise crops just the same. Let us cultivate the spirit of patience, let us cultivate that crop right here in our own city, in New York, or wherever we may be. Another crop that we can cultivate is charity. Still another crop that we can raise is that of good will. Patience, charity and good will toward others are ever so much better for ourselves and for others than are the material crops that grow out of the ground.

"I feel like a sponge because I have absorbed so many blessings during my stay in the city, but I remind you that we should be like the pump, which not only sucks up, but also gives out. If you will cultivate the virtues I have mentioned, you can make a heaven on earth for yourselves and for all those with whom you associate."

Today was Mr. Rockefeller's last as superintendent of the Sunday school class of which he has had charge during the summer. He will return to New York city this week.

CITY'S GREATEST THINGS; PRESS, PULPIT, THEATER

Commissioner McAdoo So Tells the Members of Young Men's Christian Association in New York.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]
NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—Commissioner McAdoo told the West Side branch of the Young Men's Christian association this afternoon that "the three great things in this city are the press, the churches and the theaters." "I cannot say," he continued, "that the press is bad, nor are the churches or theaters. These three institutions have not the influence they should have.

"I am criticised by the press, but I know myself that it is in most cases unjustly, so I will not criticise the church. The church, however, is a place where young men are not found. It does not get at the heart of the young man. If it could, it would make the man honest.

"Actors are very eager to have the stage elevated, but in many cases the people do not want it. They prefer to see men and women who have been charged with a crime appear before them, rather than to see a good wholesome play. Public opinion, and not the law, regulates these things. Oscar Wilde's plays succeed, although his character was very bad."

DEMONSTRATION A FAILURE.

Anti-Military Crowd in Paris Could Not Make a Protest Against the Government.

PARIS, Oct. 8.—The threatened anti-military demonstrations on the occasion of the departure of the conscripts today failed utterly owing to the strict precautions taken by the police. Fifteen arrests were made outside the eastern terminus from which over 10,000 recruits took trains for the garrisons along the German frontier.

The crowds present replied to the seditious cries of the anarchists with patriotic songs. At Chalons-Sur-Marne several recruits were placed under arrest for singing revolutionary songs and insulting their officers.

MAKES CHARGES AGAINST COLLECTOR OF CUSTOMS

CLEVELAND, O., Oct. 8.—Written charges against Collector of Customs Charles F. Leach have been filed with the secretary of the treasury, at Washington by Capt. C. E. Benham, a former deputy collector of customs under Collector Leach and whom Collector Leach discharged 18 months ago. The charges are brought at this time because of the recent discharge of Capt. George A. McKay, an employe in the collector's office, and a friend of Capt. Benham.

BOMBS THROWN AT TROOPS AND MANY ARE WOUNDED

TIFLIS, Oct. 8.—Several bombs were thrown at the Cossacks this evening. The troops fired and a general panic ensued. Many persons were killed or wounded.

Signal Tender Killed.

BEAVER FALLS, Oct. 8.—(Special.)—Patrick McGeary, a signal light tender in the employ of the Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad, was struck and instantly killed about one mile east of this place, at 4 o'clock this afternoon. He was aged 52 years, resided at Hoytdale and leaves a widow and several children.

THREE BROTHERS WHOSE AGES TOTAL 251

Mathias Zwech, Aged 81. John Zwech of Pittsburgh, Aged 87. George Zwech, Aged 83.

COMBINED AGES ARE 251 YEARS

Three Brothers, One a Pittsburgher, Show Remarkable Instance of Longevity.

[Special Telegram to The Gazette.]
MILWAUKEE, WIS., Oct. 8.—A remarkable instance of longevity is displayed in the life of Mathias and George Zweck of Beaver Dam, and John Zweck of Pittsburgh, three brothers, the combined total of whose ages reaches 251 years. John is the oldest of the trio, being 87 years. George is four years younger, while Mathias is regarded as an infant, his age being only 81 years.

After a separation of nearly 60 years, the three brothers have just had a reunion at Beaver Dam.

The brothers are natives of Germany, but have been residents of the United States for the past 54 years. All are married and have children and grandchildren living, some of whom have their residence in Milwaukee.

When the brothers came to this country they settled first in Pittsburgh, but Mathias and George determined to cast their fortunes in the western country and came to Milwaukee. From here they drove to Beaver Dam, then through an almost virgin forest. They have made their home there continuously since. John remained in Pittsburgh.

Correspondence between them ceased for several years, and the brothers at Beaver Dam believed that John had died, many years ago. Two years ago a friend of the Zweeks was in Pittsburgh, and by accident met a daughter of John Zweck's, in a hotel which was conducted by her father. The similarity of the names led to an exchange of information regarding the Zweeks in Wisconsin and those in Pennsylvania, and a correspondence ensued with the result that the relationship was quickly learned.

FATHER PITT HAS CHANCE TO SELL DISCARDED CAPS

Little Dialogue Between New Religious Worker and Police Sergeant Recalls a Change in Uniform of the Force.

"Mah name am Jefferson Brown—Cap'n Jefferson Brown—commandah of de Fust Reserve ob de Army ob de Culled Volunteers, sah."

He was a dapper little black man with a tone of veneration in his voice that hardly harmonized with his red necktie, his cane and his effervescent smile. He stood at the bar in the South Side police station and reverently addressed himself to Sergeant William McShane.

"Captain, I'm glad to see you," answered the sergeant with a voice full of the generous ring of welcome.

"I thank you, I thank you from de bottom ob mah heart," returned Capt. Jefferson Brown, and he bowed profusely.

Then he hesitated.

"Stop awhile with us tonight?" asked the sergeant, as his eyes glanced toward the door to the cell room.

"Not tonight, thank you, sah," answered the captain, "but it done just come to mah mind dat I could procuan wif you' 'sistance some ob dem dismantled caps which yo' done cast aside today."

"Come again," insisted Sergt. McShane, knitting his brow in an effort to comprehend the stranger's question.

"A new rule done go into 'fect today wharby all yo' gen'men done cast aside yo' ole caps an' assume dis new-fangled haidgear," said the captain. "Now yo' done get de new caps and ef ye haint done got no use fo' dese, it done come to mah mind dat I might get dis yeah ole set ob caps fo' mah company. Boss, yo' comprehend de course ob mah remarks?"

Then the sergeant "comprehended." Today all the sergeants, wagonmen, lieutenants and captains in the Pittsburgh police bureau will be issued the new regulation "bell-crown" caps. The old flat top caps which have been worn for six or eight years will be dispensed with and while on duty all officers will be required to comply with the new style. It had occurred to the fertile mind of Capt. Brown that he could uniform his new company with the old caps and thereby could effect a bold stroke of diplomacy and economy. He expected to get the old headgear at a bargain and had come to the station to arrange for the deal.

The "First Reserves of the Army of the Colored Volunteers" was explained to be an independent organization patterned somewhat after the Salvation Army and engaged in holding street meetings. There are many of these organizations, but as a rule they are not affiliated in any way with the regular Salvation Army or any of its family. In the case of Capt. Brown's company it was discovered that the organization was only in its embryo state.

"Where are the rest of your reserves?" asked Sergt. McShane.

"Well, deed sah, dar am not many ob dem 'listed, but de cause am just an' dar am gwine to be a po'ful turnout when mah 'cruitin' stations am 'stablished. 'Spect yo' I shall 'complish mah object in dis, ma fust mission 'mongst de police ob dis great city?"

The sergeant, of course, could not go into detail in giving the answer. Capt. Brown bowed himself out with a grandiloquent "good night" and went away probably picturing in his imagination just how the First Reserves will look in their uniforms. Other folks who have some ability in working their imaginative powers possibly can picture just about how a company crowned with the discarded caps would look.

At a late hour last night the deal for the caps had not been closed.

"I'M ALL IN," SAYS PENNSYLVANIA VETERAN

Soldier Falls Dead in New York Surrounded Only by Strangers.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]
NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—Tottering into the rear room of a saloon in First avenue, near Twenty-eighth street, this afternoon, a little, gray-haired man walked past the men drinking and smoking and dropped into a chair. Sunday caution kept the windows closed and the shades drawn and the atmosphere was stifling.

"I'm tired, pretty nigh tuckered out, boys," he said, and to the waiter, who asked his order, explained that he did not want anything to drink, and only wanted to rest for a few minutes.

"All right, old scout, you're welcome," said the waiter. A few minutes later the aged man, seeing that newcomers could not find seats, rose to go.

"Much obliged to you," he said to the waiter. "Sorry I troubled you." He was half way to the door when, with a groan, he sank to the floor. Several men ran to him and started to carry him to a chair.

"'Taint no use, boys, I'm all in," he said. "I guess I'll have to report to the commanding officer." His head sank and in a minute he was dead.

Papers showed that he was Julius Wirth, but gave no address. In a pocket was found his discharge papers showing that he had served with Company I, Second Pennsylvania volunteers, through the civil war and had been honorably discharged. Indorsed on the back of his discharge were the battles in which he had fought, including Gettysburg, where, the papers showed, he had "received honorable mention for bravery under fire." The body was taken to the morgue.

TRIPLE MURDER STILL MYSTERY

Old Man Living Near Olney Place Is Arrested, but Proves Innocence.

MRS. INGERICH CONSCIOUS

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]
MIDDLETOWN, N. Y., Oct. 8.—All attempts of the county and local police officials to clear up the mystery of the murder of Willis and Fred Olney and little Alice Ingerick at the Olney farm near here, and the murderous assault on Mrs. Ingerick on Friday night have so far been fruitless.

It was believed this morning that some clue to the murder had been found when Alanson Graham, an old man living near the Olney place, was arrested on information furnished by Mrs. Ingerick, the only member of the Olney household who escaped death, but who was found terribly injured and unconscious in the barn. After being kept in custody all day and closely examined, Graham tonight conclusively proved his innocence and was discharged from custody.

Mrs. Ingerick was employed by Graham as a housekeeper until a few weeks ago, when she returned to Middletown and soon afterward went to live with the Olney brothers. This was said to have been resented by Graham, who is reported to have made efforts to induce her to return to him, and this, with stories told by Lulu Ingerick of alleged threats by Graham against her mother, appear to have been the basis upon which the authorities decided to arrest Graham.

Daniel Davis and his wife, who live near New Vernon, were taken to police headquarters tonight and closely interrogated, and later it was announced there apparently was no evidence that would justify holding them and that they would be honorably discharged.

Mrs. Ingerick this morning recovered consciousness for the first time since the assault, and although not able to speak, succeeded in replying to the interrogatories of District Attorney Rogers by nodding and shaking her head. What information was thus elicited was not made public, but County Detective Ward and Chief of Police Brinkerhoff at once hastened to Graham's home and conducted him to this place, where he was lodged in jail. Graham took his arrest coolly and said he would have no difficulty in establishing his innocence.

President Roosevelt attended services at the Grace Reformed church today and in the afternoon went with Mrs. Roosevelt on a drive in the suburbs.

NEW ORLEANS BETTER; PENSACOLA IS WORSE

No Deaths Are Reported in Former City, but Fever Is Beyond Control in Latter.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]
NEW ORLEANS, Oct. 8.—The official report to 6 p. m. Sunday: New cases, 19; total to date, 3,136; deaths, none; total to date, 419; new foci, 4; under treatment, 200; discharged, 2,555.

The gratifying feature about the Sunday report is the fact that no deaths occurred. This is the second time during the present visitation that a day has passed without a death from yellow fever. Among the new cases is a reporter on an afternoon paper, whose brother was stricken two days ago.

PENSACOLA, FLA., Oct. 8.—Eighteen new cases of yellow fever developed in Pensacola today, a large increase, attributed partially to the rigid inspection made today by the citizens' committee. This body was appointed yesterday, each citizen being assigned to a block. This inspection revealed many cases which had not been reported. All were among the lower classes. The prevailing opinion is that the fever is beyond control.

The obstacles thrown in the way of the health officials by ignorant parties has prevented the former from stamping out the disease and conducting the campaign against the mosquito as it should be conducted. As a consequence there are now nearly 100 cases under treatment.

CONCESSION TO LABOR.

Is Said to Be Real Purpose Behind Reconvening of Oklahoma Constitutional Convention.

MUSKOGEE, I. T., Oct. 8.—A call was issued today for the reconvening of the constitutional convention at South McAlister, October 14, by the chairman, Chief Pleasant Porter. The call simply says the corrected draft of the constitution is to be signed, but it is understood the meeting is primarily to eliminate the clause in the constitution providing for the "open shop," to which labor unions have so seriously objected.

Labor leaders are jubilant over the turn affairs have taken, and say that with the objectionable feature out, organized labor will heartily support the separate state movement and the proposed constitution.

CONCESSION TO FINLAND.

Emperor of Russia Makes an Important Modification to His Recent Imperial Manifesto.

HELSINGFORS, FINLAND, Oct. 8.—At a conference of Finnish officials with the emperor at Peterhof yesterday an important modification of the imperial manifesto of June 7 was adopted permitting the employment of Finnish and Swedish in the higher administrative departments in Finland instead of the exclusive use of the Russian language.

The emperor declines to entertain the request made by the Finnish senate for the holding of an extraordinary session of the landtag this year.

DR. GILLETTE REWARDED FOR SAVING LIFE OF MRS. M'CURDY

General Manager of the Mutual Life Insurance Company Owes His Position to the Gratitude of Its President.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]
NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—Just how Dr. Walter R. Gillette was taken from a comparatively obscure position in the medical department of the Mutual Life Insurance Company, and made general manager was told today.

Dr. Gillette had for a dozen years been the family physician of Richard A. McCurdy. The social relations between the physician and the McCurdy family were close. Mrs. McCurdy was taken suddenly ill and her malady for a time baffled the physician's skill. Mr. McCurdy became alarmed and desired to call in specialists, but to this Dr. Gillette demurred. He insisted he could handle the case without assistance.

One day when his wife was very low Mr. McCurdy called Dr. Gillette into his private office and said:

"Gillette, I fear I am going to lose my wife. Perhaps there is no reason for my being alarmed, but I cannot help it. Can you give me any hope?"

Dr. Gillette assured Mr. McCurdy he had every confidence in Mrs. McCurdy's ultimate recovery.

"Gillette," said Mr. McCurdy, "if you can restore my wife to health I will make you general manager of the Mutual Life."

Within a month Mrs. McCurdy was convalescent and soon after her complete recovery Mr. McCurdy announced, through a circular letter sent to all the agents throughout the country that Walter R. Gillette had been appointed general manager of the Mutual Life.

Another relative turned up today on the payroll of the Mutual Life in the person of Abraham Gillette, son of the vice president. He has recently been put in charge of the department of medical revision, which is another name for the company's detective department.

It is not generally known that Richard A. McCurdy within the last year contemplated retiring from the Mutual Life as its president, and had determined to place his son, Robert H. McCurdy, at the head of the company's affairs to succeed him.

TEN THOUSAND PERSONS DROWNED

Typhoon in the Far East Causes Great Disaster to the Chinese.

STEAMSHIP BADLY DAMAGED.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]
VICTORIA, B. C., Oct. 8.—The steamer Tartar, which arrived last night from the Orient, brought news from Shanghai that the loss of life among the natives of the island at the mouth of the Yangtse river as a result of the typhoon at the beginning of September was tremendous.

To the east of Tsmagming, two islands, one called Yawzahwn, the other Shihhonsha, distant about 29 miles from Wobsung, have suffered much from the typhoon, nearly all the inhabitants having been swept away. The islands have only been inhabited for a short time, comparatively speaking, as they are of recent formation and are not much above high water mark. It is reported that nearly 10,000 persons have been drowned on these two islands and the smaller islands adjacent. Tsmagming itself has not suffered much, being well above the high water mark.

The Shanghai papers say that the damage to the Canadian Pacific railroad liner Empress of Japan by the typhoon will necessitate the expenditure of $100,000 for repairs. During the storm the steamer Pechili, formerly the Rio de Grande du Sol, foundered near the mouth of the Yangtse. Her crew of 24 were saved by the German steamer Albenga.

FORT SILL IS CAPTURED BY AN ATTACKING ARMY

Sham Battle Demonstrates That Railway and Telegraph Could Also Be Destroyed in Case of War.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]
LAWTON, O. T., Oct. 8.—Gen. Frank Baldwin of Oklahoma City, in command of a battery of field artillery, two troops of cavalry and a battalion of infantry, today took Fort Sill in a sham battle against five batteries of artillery and two troops of cavalry in command of Col. William Howe of Key West barracks, Fla.

The attacking troops began their advance from Anadarko Friday, and advanced to within two miles of the north gate of Fort Sill reservation yesterday. Col. Howe assembled his men to the northwest and south of the fort, thinking the enemy would enter from that direction by the position they had taken. Gen. Baldwin was successful by making his attack from the east, where it was least expected and most poorly defended.

One flank of Baldwin's troops went entirely around the outposts and crossed the railway, showing that they could destroy the railroad and telegraph communication in time of war.

MADE TO RUN GAUNTLET BY MURDEROUS COSSACKS

Victims in Moscow Riots Die or Fall Fainting Under the Knouts of Their Savage Persecutors.

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]
LONDON, Oct. 8.—Special dispatches to the London newspapers describe the desperate state of affairs at Moscow Saturday and Sunday. Many persons were killed or wounded in the rioting on the Tverskoy boulevard at the site of the monument to the poet, Alexander Pushkin, and in the great square fronting the monastery, where the troops used sabres and rifles, firing point blank into the rioters.

The authorities have issued a proclamation giving the police absolute power to prevent assemblages.

The correspondent of the Standard describes how many of those arrested were made to run the gauntlet of a double line of Cossacks in a long narrow court-yard, the soldiers brutally striking them with knouts and the butts of rifles until they dropped fainting or dead at the end of the line.

Many writers have attempted to write stories based upon the navigation of the air. Rudyard Kipling, in the November McClure's, with the practical methods for which he is famous, simply takes a trip with the night mail packet from London to Quebec in eight hours, and describes what happens. As you read it, it is hard to believe that this is not the actual, technical language of the hardy crew which guides this swift vessel through the air at the rate of a mile every sixteen seconds.

RESCUERS FOUND TOO ALERT

Rats by the hundreds, as big as cats, so 'tis said, infest McKees Rocks. Several days ago the trouble began. One day a scream was heard coming from the cellar of one of the best residences in town, as a local chronicler phrases it, and when the crowd rushed in they saw the plump mistress of the house standing on a chair in the kitchen squawking out that a dozen big rats had tried to attack her in the cellar. Soon another scream was heard a few doors away and when the crowd rushed into the house there was another plump housewife standing on a kitchen chair. Screams resounded in all directions and sightseers were kept busy rushing to the aid of the beleaguered women.

Rats are certainly plentiful in McKees Rocks. They are of the big muskrat variety, supposed to have been driven into the houses in search of food by the very low water in Chartiers creek. They have been coming even into the sleeping rooms of the houses, so that womankind in general at the Rooks is in constant fear. For awhile men on the streets rushed valiantly to the aid of the ladies whenever they heard a scream. Just what rats have to do with the sudden access of industry in the darning of stockings and the sewing of lace edging and the many purchases of neat shoes now going on in the borough can not be determined, although several fathers of families with daughters have ordered the rescuers to be barred out, having noticed, in following the direction of the eyes of the gallant knights, that they were not looking for rats at all. One father peremptorily ordered his scared women folks not to be fools and to "come down off those chairs."

Borough dogs show many scars from the teeth of rats, for when cornered the muskrats put up a good fight, but the dogs have killed many of them, while the cats, more prudent, watch the contests from afar. Storekeepers are much troubled by the rodents and the merchants have got together and are talking about organizing a grand rat hunt. The men of the borough are in favor of the hunt, but the ladies view the prospect with terror. Men who keep fowls have lost some fine specimens, finding the floor of their coops covered with blood and feathers in the morning.

PLAIN CLOTHES MEN INSPIRE NO TERROR

Three Holdups and Assaults Occur in Downtown Streets, but No Arrests Are Made.

In spite of the fact that Supt. "Buck" Wallace says he has stationed 20 plainclothes men in the hill and downtown districts, the hold-up men seem to be operating without any molestation from the police. There were three hold-ups in these districts during Saturday night and early yesterday morning. In two instances no arrests were made. One of the victims is at the Homeopathic hospital suffering from a blow he received from a hanny billy.

Thomas Sharran of 1814 Rebecca street, Allegheny, was walking in an alley in the rear of Hotel Anderson, in order to avoid the crowd in Sixth street, Saturday night, and was knocked down and robbed of $22.50. The matter was reported to the police bureau, but after the officers had questioned the victim the case was apparently forgotten.

A. L. Steel, a negro, of 4 Home Place, Allegheny, was held up by several thieves, who struck him with a handy billy, while in Poplar alley, and took $4 from him. The blow made a deep scalp wound and rendered him unconscious. He was taken to the hospital. No arrest was made in this case.

E. C. Valentine, who was arrested early yesterday morning charged with assaulting Elizabeth Brown in Ross street, Saturday night, was discharged yesterday morning. The woman was unable to identify him.

PRISONER TRIES SUICIDE.

Patrick Manion Attempts to Hang Himself After Giving Officer a Stiff Fight.

After putting up a strenuous 15-minute fight with Policeman John Hagdon in Penn avenue yesterday afternoon Patrick Manion was locked up in No. 3 police station and shortly afterward was found hanging by the neck from his cell door. Manion tied his suspenders to the top of the bars and then tied the other end around his neck. He was discovered by Wagonman Patrick Kennedy and was cut down. A guard was placed at his cell last night.

Manion, who is aged 30 and single, recently came to Pittsburgh from Ireland. Yesterday afternoon he got drunk and tried to pick a quarrel with every man he met in the vicinity of Thirteenth and Pike streets. Policeman Hagdon, who also lives in the vicinity and was off duty, attempted to arrest Manion and in the fight both men were badly used up. It is alleged Irish friends of Manion prevented two citizens going to the officer's assistance. While the battle was raging Policeman Devlin appeared and when Manion saw his uniform he quietly submitted to arrest.

ORPHANS TO MEET.

Will Decide Wednesday Whether They Will Go on Ballot.

The central committee of the Orphans party will hold a meeting Wednesday night to decide whether it will have a place on the ballot this fall. The party has indorsed the Republican county ticket.

The Fourteenth ward committee of the Orphans will meet in the Bellefield school tomorrow evening.

Runaway Car Hits Woman.

Car 320 of the Hamilton avenue line jumped the track while rounding the curve at Hamilton and Brushton avenues at 9 o'clock last night, and plunged across the street to the curb. Mrs. T. W. McCurdy of 542 Gertrude street, Hazelwood, was struck by the car and knocked down. Her right foot is sprained and she suffered some painful bruises. She was taken home in a carriage.

Street Car Catches Fire.

The explosion of the controller on a Perrysville avenue car last evening, at Sandusky and Ohio streets, Allegheny, caused some excitement among the passengers. The front platform of the car caught fire and a still alarm was sent to No. 6 engine house close by. The blaze was extinguished with a chemical.

Too Much Worry.

Worry kills more people than disease. It turns our hair gray; draws wrinkles on our face, places lines of care on our brow. We worry because we have too much to do. We worry because we have nothing to do. We worry about our friends. Make our friends wonder at our impatient and irritable nature, and if we don't take the trouble to learn the great secret we will worry ourselves into the grave. Worry is caused by a diseased stomach. Lactonene Dyspepsia Tablets cure it. Get them today. A contented mind is surely yours—the greatest blessing man or woman can have. "Ask the Druggist."

Good fellowship is all right, but it doesn't pay interest. A Savings Account with the Pittsburgh Bank for Savings, Smithfield St. and 4th Ave., will prove a friend when you need one. Open an account now. Don't wait until tomorrow.

PLAYS POLITICS WITH COUNCILS

Larkin Changes His Mind Again and Prepares a Hamilton Avenue Repealer.

PLAN IS TO SHELVE THE BILL

Controller Larkin is playing politics with councils. He has prepared an ordinance repealing the Hamilton avenue extension ordinance and will have the repealer introduced today in councils, although the controller, previous to the last meeting of councils, declared, "It is not my business to meddle with councils and introduce ordinances."

At the former meeting the controller contented himself merely with sending a very tame communication to councils, and the administration members asserted they and Director Bigelow were in sympathy with the controller.

The insincerity of the administration was shown when a resolution, declaring in favor of the repeal of the Hamilton avenue extension was presented, the administration members all voting against and defeating the resolution. The controller is in sore need of campaign material and has decided that something is required to remedy the injury done by the administration at the last meeting. He has, therefore, decided to do what he formerly declared he would not do, and will have some member introduce his repealer today, probably A. G. Roenigk.

The repealer will be referred to the public works committee, and will lie there until after the election, while the controller can tell the public that it will pass.

The best evidence that the administration does not intend to pass the repealer is the fact that no exception was filed by Director Bigelow to the $275,000 assessment against the city for the improvement. The hearings on exceptions have been completed by the viewers and they will make their report to the court as soon as they have inspected the location of the proposed extension of Hamilton avenue, which will be done today or tomorrow.

The ordinances to change the location of Boundary street and of the Pittsburgh Junction railroad tracks in Junction hollow, will also be introduced in councils today.

FATHER MATHEW'S BIRTHDAY.

It Is Generally Observed by Catholic Societies Here—Still Working for Temperance.

The anniversary of the birth of Father Mathew, which comes tomorrow, was celebrated yesterday by the Diocesan Total Abstinence union. It has been the custom in recent years to hold a central meeting in one of the theaters, but the plan was abandoned chiefly because Bishop Canevin, the national president, had a previous engagement to attend a corner stone laying at Latrobe. Instead all of the societies held local meetings.

The largest of these took place at Ambridge, where the Rev. John F. Kubacki, pastor of St. Veronica's church, presided. He made an enthusiastic speech on total abstinence and was the first to sign the pledge. The Rev. P. Ketrick, curate of St. Peter's church, Allegheny; A. B. Floyd, of Irwin; John R. McKavney, Charles D. McShane and Miss Sarah McLaughlin also spoke.

The meeting resulted in the formation of two societies. The men's organization elected James B. Quinn, president; Frank S. Borgman, secretary; John B. Down, P. B. Connelly and F. Wilt, diocesan delegates. The women's society chose Mrs. Frank S. Borgman for president, Mrs. Clara Wilt, secretary; Mrs. Margaret Singer, treasurer, and the Rev. Father Kubacki spiritual director. The visitors from Pittsburgh were entertained at dinner by Mr. and Mrs. John B. Downey after the meeting.

A large meeting was held in the school hall, St. Agnes' church, Soho, in the afternoon. An address on Father Mathew was delivered by Father Lawless, and P. R. Condron made a speech to the younger boys. A good cadet society was organized. A number of members of the various societies, selected by the Rev. John C. Beane, president of the diocesan union, attended the corner stone laying at Latrobe as a compliment to Father McCullough, who organized two large temperance societies in that town recently.

Braddock Man Is Missing.

Joseph Murphy of Franklin street, North Braddock, a rigger at the Edgar Thomson steel works, has been reported as missing. He went from his home on the evening of June 12, telling his wife he would be back in an hour and has never returned. Mrs. Murphy has notified the Braddock police. She fears her husband met with foul play or was injured. She said she and her husband were happy together. Murphy is 27 years old, five feet seven inches in height, weighs 140 pounds and has dark hair and gray eyes.

Automobiling Is Not a Cheap Amusement

The big touring car of Mrs. Gilmore of Ivy street, which ran into the store front of H. B. Pruden's paint and glass store at 621 Smithfield street, late Saturday night, is still in possession of the police. Pruden made a complaint to the bureau of police yesterday, placing his damage at $300, which he wants made good. He was told the machine would be impounded until 10 o'clock this morning, at which time Mrs. Gilmore has been notified to be present at police headquarters to adjust the damage claim.

Correct Livery for any And All Occasions

Apropos of the Horse Show, which begins at Sewickley Heights tomorrow, we desire to give notice that our Men's Clothing Department is always in readiness to furnish liveries, not only for coachmen and grooms, but for all functions where uniformed service is desirable. Like all other departments, our Clothing Department seeks to afford ample variety in this special style and quality of clothes, and to do away with the customary fancy prices usually charged for livery.

Our Every Thought Is Now for a Big Autumn Business

We have had our generously attended Fashion Show; we've exhibited the most fashionable things we could lay our hands on from both Europe and America, we've discussed pro and con the set styles, and now, to wit, this ninth day of October, 1905, we begin the most aggressive selling campaign this house ever mapped out. No store in this city will ever be able to undersell us, no store in this city will ever be able to show more variety, and in saying that you have in epitome what goes to give a store leadership.

Monday, October 9, 1905.

The Republicans of New York city have nominated a man for mayor who is now conducting the investigations of the life insurance companies, and, it is said, they have nominated Mr. Hughes against his expressed refusal to run. Judging from the vigorous manner in which he is prodding insurance officials he would make a better official than Mayor McClellan.

While the police superintendent continues to complain about the district attorney's office and the grand jury, the highwaymen continue to operate on downtown streets. One was captured by the county detectives yesterday morning and others escaped with the plunder. Of course, the capture by the county officers will give cause for further police bureau complaint, but will give satisfaction to the public.

A Berry organ reports that Mr. Plummer is not pleased with his chances for election. The particular paper that makes publication of this silly falsehood is notorious for its lack of knowledge and disregard for facts. It possibly believes such folly will influence some voter, but such a thing is not likely. Mr. Plummer is gaining votes every minute while the opposition is wasting its time on canards of that sort.

The man who offered a Bryan platform as a substitute for the one reported to the Massachusetts Democratic state convention was almost howled down, and when it came to a vote his set of resolutions were ignominiously rejected. Thus we have the first test of Bryan's propaganda inaugurated some time ago, only to get the boot instead of the cheer, and it will not help Col. Bryan's digestion during his trip abroad.

The New York Tribune, noting the fact that the policemen of that city have advised citizens to carry blackjacks for their own protection against hold-up men, suggests that the question naturally arises, "What are the police for if not to make the streets safe for honest citizens?" The same conundrum has often been asked in Pittsburgh without definite answer. In this city it is the hold-up men who carry black-jacks, probably for protection against the police.

No more thorough self exposure would have been possible on the part of those apologists for the Citizens party, the Leader and Dispatch, than their attacks upon the Orphans because the latter would no longer adhere to the discredited Citizens machine. A year ago the Leader and Dispatch vied with each other in claiming to represent the Orphans—now there is nothing too harsh for them to say against the gentlemen who left the Citizens party because they remained true to their campaign pledges and the party did not.

A syndicate of wealthy citizens of Los Angeles, California, have submitted a peculiar proposition to the city council of that city. There are 200 licensed saloons, and they offer to pay the city $180,000 for the exclusive privilege of selling liquid refreshments. Their scheme is to reduce the number of saloons to 25, pay 6 per cent to stockholders in the syndicate and pay over the remainder of excess revenues to the city. Reduction in the number of saloons does not always accomplish the end sought. There are other reasons why such a scheme might not be as beneficial to the city as it looks on paper.

There is little to be commended in the call of T. W. Lawson of Boston upon governors of western states to take up an investigation and reorganization of the big insurance companies. The New York legislative committee appears entirely competent to make the necessary investigation. Attorney General Mayer of the state of New York and District Attorney Jerome will attend to any necessary prosecutions to compel restitution or to secure proper management in the future. There is no especial opening for the proposed committee of governors, and as for Mr. Lawson, the less he has to do with the matter the better for all concerned.

Records and Issues.

A significant feature of the fusion meeting of Saturday night is the fact that every active participant in it is either a place holder or a present candidate for office. No disinterested citizen was there present to say a word for the party, its pretensions or its ticket. The audience, of course, was principally made up of the payroll brigade.

We note that at that meeting William B. Rodgers, city solicitor by appointment of Mayor Hays, read from an editorial in The Gazette of some time ago the advice to the Republicans to nominate Controller R. J. Cunningham for re-election to the office he now holds. It is true The Gazette gave that advice. It did so because it believed then and believes now that Mr. Cunningham has been a faithful and competent official. It would gladly have supported him if he had seen fit to cast in his lot with the Republican party, but he chose, instead, to associate himself with an organization that has brought discredit upon itself by violation of its every pledge. The Republican party has now nominated another man for that office who is just as good, just as competent, and who is in much better company. The Gazette is pleased to support him and will rejoice in his election.

Mr. Cunningham was elected controller of Allegheny county because there was a firm belief in the minds of many there was something wrong in the county offices. It was expected an honest and capable accounting officer would discover and disclose these wrongs. Mr. Cunningham has been controller for nearly three years. He has found nothing wrong, has instituted no proceedings against any former county officer. This is the best possible proof the popular impression of wrong-doing was not well founded. The county offices in the past were just as well and at least as honestly administered as they are at present. There has been no improvement by the change, if there has been no deterioration.

Mr. Larkin was elected city controller on the same principle—the belief there was much wrong in the city offices. The Gazette indorsed him because it believed in his personal and official integrity. It does not now question either, but cannot say as much for his political integrity. Mr. Larkin has been three and a half years in office and has found nothing wrong in the administration of any city office prior to the present administration, of which he is a part and which he now endeavors to defend. His only exposures have been of the present administration.

The speakers of Saturday evening notably confined their eulogies to the administration of the county offices, especially those administered by gentlemen not favored by renomination. They may hope but cannot succeed, by such means, in divorcing the campaign from the record of the administrations that have disgraced Pittsburgh and Allegheny. It is not possible to separate them. This county campaign is simply preliminary to the effort that will be made later to again fasten upon these cities the vicious control from which they have suffered for two and a half years. The administration of these cities has been the worst in their history, so bad, in fact, it could hardly be worse—made more contemptible because it has been in flagrant violation of every promise made to the people.

The issue now is the gross misuse of power in Pittsburgh and Allegheny by the men who dominate the Democratic-Citizens fusion. That will be the issue until their hold has been broken on the county and the two great cities within it. The Republican party has nominated men of unexceptionable character, by absolutely fair methods, and the people will rally to their support in pursuit of their own public interest.

Hungary's Contention.

Recent interesting developments in the Austro-Hungarian situation have been followed by a flood of comments in the press which illustrate the ignorance of the writers regarding the real questions at issue and the exact nature of the relations, juridical as they are, which exist between the two countries. This popular misconception is shown in the use of the term "Emperor of Austria and Hungary." As a matter of fact, there is an emperor of Austria and a king of Hungary, and the two prerogatives are vested in one personality. It is the contention of the Hungarians that their country, despite the fact that its ruler is also the ruler of another country, is a sovereign nation; that this independent kingdom of Hungary, for purposes of its own, has allied itself to the equally independent and distinct empire of Austria, by an aact of sovereign good will, without ever having abdicated the smallest particle of its sovereignty as an independent nation. The basis of the present relations between the two countries is the famous Pragmatic Sanction of Emperor Charles the Sixth, which provides that descendants of Leopold the First, Joseph the First and Charles the Third shall reign as kings of Hungary, in conformity with the Austrian law of primogeniture. As long as the lineage lasts, therefore, the same person must reign in both Austria and Hungary. When this lineage becomes extinct, Hungary will resume her ancient right of free election to the throne, regardless of Austria. As long as this lineage lasts, Austria and Hungary must stand together to resist foreign aggression. The Pragmatic Sanction contains nothing to indicate that Hungary surrenders her independence in any degree whatsoever.

It is natural that Austro-Hungarian relations should prove confusing to foreign observers. Simple as are the terms of the Pragmatic Sanction a vast number of intricacies have arisen in their execution. For instance, there is a common ministry of foreign affairs and of war, but the Hungarians have always insisted upon the conception of a Hungarian army as part of the whole army of Austro-Hungary, commanded by the king of Hungary, as distinguished from the emperor of Austria. The practical line of division, which should prevent Austria and Hungary from being considered as one nation, is emphasized by the fact that there is no Austro-Hungarian judiciary. Any serious question arising between the two is settled by international arbitration, as was done a few years ago in the case of a boundary dispute.

That two nations could continue in such an alliance indefinitely, without serious friction, was not to be expected. An extremely interesting situation is developing, due to the efforts of hot-headed Hungarian agitators. Hints of mutiny in the army are heard. The Hungarian government seems ready for anything. Trouble is coming, if not now, later.

Justice in Kentucky.

A new phase of Kentucky justice was exhibited in the news reports yesterday. A negro under arrest for an infamous crime had been taken to another county for temporary safekeeping, was now being returned for trial to his own county where the mob awaited him. Telegraphic warning was sent to keep the culprit on the train, judge and jury boarded it, court was held in the baggage car, the negro was convicted and sentenced to the penitentiary while the train sped on. The prisoner was safely landed in state prison.

Queer proceeding, altogether, a bit severe on the dignity of the court, with some doubt concerning the legality of the affair. However, a lynching was avoided and Kentucky is not likely to interfere with the questionable proceeding unless the desire to have summary vengeance becomes strong enough to demand the prisoner's return. It is one of the stories that might not be believed if told as coming from another state. In Kentucky the incident has a natural setting, in the state where injustice has as much connection as justice with the courts of law.

In another commonwealth the purpose to prevent a lynching would have suggested calling out the militia, or the deputizing of numerous sheriffs to defend the majesty of the law. Nowhere else would there have been recourse to the burlesque expedient of holding court in a baggage car. Yet there are some hopeful features in the incident. The most extraordinary thing about it is the failure to surrender the negro to the mob and have done with it.

Daughtery's Downfall.

The downfall of Prof. N. C. Daughtery, superintendent of the Peoria, Ill., schools, and an educator of national renown, is one of the most distressing revelations in many years on account of the distinguished personality of the man who stands charged with the crimes of forgery, embezzlement and larceny, with over 100 indictments confronting him. Prof. Daughtery was a man of varied occupations as well as accomplishments, being employed as an educational instructor, banker, promoter of mining properties, with numerous side issues. The cause of his undoing is attributable to the mania that has a strangle hold on thousands of other men in this country—money madness—the haste to get rich no matter how or at whose expense. A few days ago this prominent educator was held in the highest esteem and confidence. Now he is proved to be a thief and a forger.

It is the peculiar position that Prof. Daughtery has occupied as an educator, as a man looked up to by teachers and scholars and one from whom instruction in morals as well as letters was received that lends pathos to his case. There was much to be expected from him, and now nothing but disgrace and dishonor are left to him. The overtaking of his misdoings and exposure of his guilt are as painful as they are pitiful.

It is said he was generous to a fault, his pocketbook being open to his friends and acquaintances, a large hearted philanthropist who helped many young men to start in life. In this his case is similar to that of the career of Banker Bigelow of Milwaukee. Like Bigelow, however, Daughtery used other peoples money to scatter his largesses. It is only another instance pointing out the truth of the old-fashioned maxim that honesty is the best policy, if one wants to keep a conscience void of offense. Peace of mind is rather to be chosen than great riches unlawfully accumulated.

A Wisconsin man with five wives was gathered in by the police the other day and a committee of the mothers-in-law has been appointed to attend to the prosecution. It is well that cruel and unusual punishments are prohibited.

Grateful persons have erected a monument in France to the discoverer of quinine. It is now up to Kentucky to accord equal honor to the discoverer of the other ingredient in the standard remedy for colds.

Had Pat Crowe kidnaped Mr. Rockefeller he might have been in the position of the man who caught the bear—eager to have someone help him let go.

A Toledo man got a black eye during a discussion with his wife as to which has the more reasons for being happy. This reduces his score by one.

Get ready with the salt shaker for the yellow journal stories that are sure to come out of Harvard about Teddy Junior's adventures.

Lawson's effort to broaden the insurance scandal is in the nature of keeping a bad mess stirred up.

Highwaymen continue to operate in this town more actively than the police.

QUIET OBSERVATIONS ON WAYS OF WORLD

Why Yell for Water When There Is No Water Within Reach?

By ERASMUS WILSON.

You are right, friend Mathew, quite right. And you are not the only one who would drink more water if our good temperance people, or practical Christians, would place it within reach of the thirsty. Water is as essential to life as is air, but we can go longer without drinking than without breathing, consequently heaven could not afford to leave it to us to control the air as we do water.

Thousands of thirsty people walk our streets every day who would be only too glad to stop at a fountain, a spigot in the wall, or at a corner hydrant, and take a drink of Allegheny river water, but there are no fountains, no spiggots, no hydrants along the way.

* * *

Just now, and for several weeks past, we are having many visitors from neighboring towns and the countryside, and we have made no arrangement whatever for their comfort and convenience.

The way many of these have suffered is something sinful. That is an ugly word, but it is the mildest that suggests itself.

These people were induced to come here by glowing promises that they would be shown a good time. But when they arrived they found there wasn't even a place to get a drink of water, much less necessary conveniences. Women and children look in vain for toilet rooms, and go on suffering the livelong day.

* * *

Such treatment as that is not only ungenerous, but it is shameful, don't you think?

You may think these visitors can get along the same as you do, but you have no right to think so. They are strangers and not used to the ways of the city. Besides, the women and children, being modest and diffident, they don't like to ask for retiring places.

Many, very many, of them go home to suffer more or less; and some for life.

Ask your doctor and he will tell you that very many, if not a majority of the suffering common to women are primarily due to a lack of proper attention to themselves.

If you don't like to ask your doctor ask your mother, or any woman who has lived in a city, or traveled more or less. Or you may not have to ask any one; your own experience and observation being sufficient.

* * *

In his note "Mathew" says he liked the article on drinking water for health, having begun it some years ago and found it better than any medicine he had ever taken.

"But where is the water?" asks he. "I mostly have to go into some public building or business house to get a drink, and this is not always pleasant, for there is usually some one around who looks at me as though he thought I was a bum.

"Your suggestion to place a fountain on every square is about the best yet, and I do hope some one will take it up in councils and have it put through.

"And if our chamber of commerce, which aims to promote good things for the people, might better promote this humane scheme than some of the things it is bothering with.

"Then there are the civic clubs and societies which promise so many reforms. Isn't this right in their line?"

* * *

There are clubs and clubs. Some do things, and some don't, while others don't try to do anything worth while.

Talking is the principal feature of most clubs. Very few have become noted for doing things. Passing resolutions and appointing committees take up most of the time of women's clubs. Reports of committees take up but little of the time. But as for resolutions—well, the average woman's club can "resolute till the cows come home."

This, however, only goes to prove that women are great agitators, but not successful settlers. They seem to know that something is wrong, but haven't the knack of finding it, much less the skill to fix it when found.

Outside of the domestic sphere women are not practical, as a rule, which accounts for their failure to do things, to finish the work they cut out, to accomplish the good they had in view when they started.

* * *

Psychology, mental science and world politics are favorite subjects for women's clubs. And maybe it is just as well that they should discuss these, for the discussions will not hurt women, nor will the subjects suffer much.

But wouldn't it be more fitting if they were to discuss matters of human interest, talk about things pertaining to the health, comfort and betterment of the people generally?

The average woman doesn't know one-half as much about herself as she should in order that she may take proper care of herself and enjoy life as intended.

Nor does the average mother know enough about her own children to rear them as they should be reared.

Do women's clubs ever discuss these matters? Now and then, perhaps, but in a perfunctory, disinterested sort of way, and with very little profit.

We hear a lot of talk about the sufferings of the poor, and many are the lofty schemes for their alleviation, but, somehow or other, these schemes fail to work, so that when winter comes along, as it does once a year, the needy rush to the poor director and aid societies just as they have ever done.

Wouldn't it be more sensible to do away with the poor, or at least with most of them? This can be accomplished without resort to the guillotine or chloroform, and that without much trouble if women's clubs, men's clubs, churches and schools were to take the matter up heartily and earnestly.

People are poor, as a rule, because they are ignorant concerning proper methods of getting on in the world. Teach them, show them, help them, and the poorest of them will become self-sustaining.

* * *

If prosperous families were to take indigent, improvident families under their care, see that they got work to do, and teach them how to use their earnings to good advantage, it wouldn't be long until the army of the poor wouldn't amount to more than a corporal's guard.

We preach Christianity one day in seven and spent six giving ourselves the lie.

Do you practice what your preacher preaches to you on Sunday, and which you accept as gospel?

Or to get a little nearer home, do you practice what you preach yourself, much less what you believe, and know, is required of you as a Christian, or as an exemplary citizen of a Christian nation?

If each and every one of us were to make an honest attempt to discharge our duties as we understand them, the fourth generation hence would find the world practically reformed.

Who, then, will be to blame if the fourth generation finds the world no better, or even worse, that it now is?

MOONRISE.

The fernbrake trembles in the lifting dark;
Pale spangles glance along the mellowing gray.
Above the ancient wood a rounded bark
Drops lily petals down a dusky bay,
And cornerwise, and all a-slip, between
The trees, soft shocks of ravelled silver lean.

The cornfield chiefs make bold essay to break
The moon spears, with their tawny, pointed shields;
From mullein tent and grassy camp awake
The moonlight spears of the autumn fields;
And moist, delicious fragrances of night
Wind through the argent fleeces of the light.

A still, black stream inlaid with cameo,
Asleep in dim retreat of sycamore,
Awakes, with rills of laughter, just below
A curve, and from the crescent of the shore
An old mill rises in the yellow mist
And grinds, with silent wheel, a shadow grist.

CAN ESCAPE ONLY BY BECOMING A REFUGEE

James Hazen Hyde May Keep Out of Inquisitors' Clutches by Forsaking New York State.

By FRANK A. PARKER.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—Practical banishment from the state of New York is what will result in the case of James Hazen Hyde if he continues to refuse to give testimony before the insurance inquisition. He has, through his attorney, Samuel Untermeyer, refused to testify unless he is permitted to be represented by counsel and is not asked questions that may have a bearing on numerous civil cases pending. Naturally the legislative commission which is trying to drag the secrets from the life insurance business will make no promises, and if Mr. Hyde comes before the committee he is likely to be asked all sorts of embarrassing questions. The only way for him to escape the ordeal is to remain without the jurisdiction of the committee.

That Mr. Hyde is particularly anxious to keep his secrets was shown one day last week when he failed to attend a wedding, where he was confidently expected, because he discovered a subpoena server was to be thereabouts looking for him. He has not since been within the state, and as long as he keeps out of the way he can, of course, escape the ordeal. His attorney declares the investigation is illegal and that his client cannot be forced to testify, but he is very careful to keep him out of reach just the same. If the investigation really is illegal it is strange the attorneys for some of the other men Mr. Hughes has had on the spit have not discovered the fact in time to save their clients from an unpleasant experience. Evidently that part of the claim of Mr. Hyde is a bluff.

Must Stay Away for a Long While.

The legislative committee has it in its power to keep Mr. Hyde out of New York for the rest of his natural life, if such a thing is desired. The only way for him to escape this banishment is to come forward and take his medicine like a man. The committee can have the legislature keep the committee in force even after the investigation is practically ended, simply to take Mr. Hyde's testimony, and in that way make it necessary for him to stay out of the state for all time. And that is the program the committee has in mind at this time. It would undoubtedly be an interesting situation for Mr. Hyde, who is such a great lover of society that he follows it wherever it goes.

Just Like Reginald Vanderbilt.

Mr. Hyde would thus be placed in the same position Reginald Vanderbilt occupied for many months not so long ago. Mr. Jerome wanted Mr. Vanderbilt to tell what he knew about the gambling at Canfield's place, and Mr. Vanderbilt was just as anxious to escape telling then as Mr. Hyde is now. His only recourse was to remain out of the city, which he did for several months, and until Canfield came forward, confessed his guilt and paid a fine of $1,000, and thus wiped the case off the slate. Mr. Vanderbilt did not thereafter lose much time before coming to the city to see how much it had grown during his absence.

Now Up to the Policyholders.

Mr. Hughes, th chief counsel for the insurance investigating committee, has been interviewed on what the results of the investigation will be. He did not say much, but from his remarks it was gathered it will be for the policy-holders to decide. If they remain inactive there will be very little gained, and it is this inactivity of the policy-holders that the heads of the big companies are counting on. Of course, the investigation is sure to have a great moral influence on the management of insurance companies in the future, and even if that it is the only result it will be worth while. People in New York are not taking a lot of stock in the promise of District Attorney Jerome that criminal prosecution will follow. Mr. Jerome has promised too many things that have not yet come to pass.

American Playrights Happy.

Stepping down to lighter things—and things which seem to interest the average New Yorker most—the great American playwrights who tramp Broadway with bundles of unproduced product under their arms are "tickled to death," as the saying goes, with the result of the theatrical season thus far. Practically all the imported plays have been rank failures, and the greatest successes have been those by American playwrights and telling American stories. This means the public on this side of the ocean is no longer willing to accept the London guarantee on plays as worth while. It further means that there are a few theaters around towns that must have plays in them, and the American lad's stuff is pretty sure of a close reading. No wonder the great American playwrights are now happy!

Up and Down the Big Ladder.

Such little tragedies of the people who climb nearly to the top of the ladder of success, only to lose their hold and drop are not unusual in this hurley-burley of Gotham. It takes a lot of money to make an appearance of success, and too many times a man will gather just enough of the golden apples to give him an appetite that he cannot continue to satisfy. Then he suddenly goes stale, his thoughts won't come, and he cannot work to any advantage through the fog of his disgust with things as they are. One always feels sorry for them, but one can never really give a man a lift after his hold has slipped and the chap knows that he is a "has-been." "But it is better to be a has-been than to be a never-was," said one of that sort the other day; and perhaps he is right.

SOME GOOD STORIES OF PITH AND MOMENT

Gossipy Chat and Anecdote of Entertaining and Instructive Character.

It was in a Chicago restaurant. Two handsomely dressed young women entered, accompanied by modishly attired youths, one of whom bore every evidence of a recent and thorough plunge into the depths of dissipation.

The party seated themselves, and the dissipated looking chap proceeded to order an extensive supper. During the course of the repast the youth in question made repeated allusions in a somewhat loud voice to the condition he had been in the night before. According to his statement, several things had transpired on that occasion of which he was entirely oblivious.

His friends listened and laughed at the account of his doings, and the supper went merrily onward to the cafe noir and liqueurs.

When the time came to pay the check the gilded youth ostentatiously produced a large roll of bills and turned to the expectant waiter with the question:

"Paul, what is the largest tip for a supper you have ever received?"

The waiter smiled delightedly and said: "Twenty dollars, sir."

"Well," said the young Croesus, with an air of bravado, "here is twenty-five for you."

He turned to his friends with a mock effort at shifting the conversation to some other subject, and shortly afterward they all rose to go. As the waiter was assisting the girls with their wraps the prodigal turned to him and asked:

"By the way, Paul, who ever gave you $20 as a supper tip?"

"You did, sir—last night, sir," replied the smiling waiter, and the eavesdroppers roared.—Chicago Record-Herald.

She Triumphed, All Right.

Her first venture at cooking dinner in her own home had passed successfully, and they sat in silence at opposite ends of the table, wondering at the novelty of it all, and gazing at each other.

"Honestly, honestly—on your word of honor—did you like it, Fred?" she asked finally.

"Never enjoyed anything so much in my life," he said, and swallowed a lump.

"Everything—everything—from soup to pudding?"

"Every mouthful, from soup to pudding," he said bravely.

"Oh, I'm so relieved, then," she said, as a huge sigh escaped her. "You see, I forgot to order the syrup for the sauce for the pudding and I had to have something, so I took the cough syrup, and I was so afraid you'd taste it!"—New York Times.

Unanimous Conviction.

Millais' little maid with the rabbit, "Orphans," is a general favorite at the picture exhibitions in the London slums.

"I do love that child," said a workingman, "she just talks to me as if she was my own." Another picture with the same title by Waterlow, represents lambs being brought up by hand in a blossoming orchard. Mr. Kier Hardie, M. P., the well-known labor leader, was taking some children around the exhibition.

"Now, children," he said, after telling them about the country in the spring, "what do you think she is giving the little lambs to drink out of that bottle?"

"Beer!" shouted every one with conviction.—The World Today.

Properly Punished.

A young lady, whose beauty is equal to her bluntness in conversation, was visiting at a house where other guests were assembled, among them the eldest son of a rich manufacturer. The talk turned on matrimonial squabbles. Said the eligible party:

"I hold that the correct thing for the husband is to begin as he intends to go on. Say that the question is one of smoking. Almost immediately I would show my intentions by lighting a cigar and settling the question forever."

"And I would knock the thing out of your mouth," cried the imperious beauty.

"Do you know," rejoined the young man, "I don't think you would be there!"—Detroit Tribune.

Hot Times in Japan.

Mr. Sato of the Japanese peace commission praised in Portsmouth the pleasant and stimulating coolness of the American summer.

"Oh, yes, here in Portsmouth our Augusts are pleasant enough," a correspondent said; "but you should visit Philadelphia or St. Louis at this season. Then your idea of our summers would be different."

"We have hot summers in Japan," said Mr. Sato. "We have hot weather stories there, too. For instance:

"A philanthropic Japanese rode through the streets one scorching day when a beggar woman accosted him, holding a baby in her arms.

"'Kind sir,' she said, 'will you not give a copper coin to your servant, who is in sore need?'

"'Yes, gladly,' said the gentleman, and he took out a handful of small change.

"But just as he was about to give this to the woman, he chanced to look closely at her baby, and, behold, it was only a great doll.

"'Why,' he cried, 'that baby is a fraud, a sham.'

"'Yes, your honor,' said the woman, humbly: 'It was so hot I left the real one home today.'"—Los Angeles Times.

His Drunken Eye.

A dignified citizen who had been talking politics for four hours, and who had not neglected to punctuate every telling point with a libation, got into an Eighth street car at Chestnut street at 2 o'clock yesterday morning and adjusted himself comfortably on one of the seats. Somewhat sleepy, but still wary enough to keep awake and to save himself from any light-fingered fellow passenger, the politically inclined citizen closed one eye. It was a trick he had learned in his boyhood, and he was enjoying his rabbit-like repose, when a solicitous stranger entered the car. The stranger seemed startled by the sight of a man with one eye apparently lost. "Did you lose your eye in an accident or were you born that way?" the stranger asked. The drowsy citizen looked up with his staring optic and in a voice that could be heard throughout the car exclaimed: "You —— fool, I'm drunk; that's what's the matter with my eye. I can't keep it open."—Philadelphia Record.

The Sun Hits Out.

At present the President doesn't get living wages. Only from the economic standpoint of Buncombe Four Corners is his pay "princely." STORIES FOUND IN THE LOBBIES

Interesting Happenings Concerning the People Who Are Traveling.

People waiting for trains at Union station last night witnessed an amusing incident in the cab stand and had a laugh at the expense of J. P. Sparker of Squirrel hill, who missed his train because his big greyhound refused to stay at home when his master departed. The owner of the dog arrived at the station in a cab and intended to take the 6 o'clock train east, but on jumping out of the cab with his grips he was greeted by the dog, which jumped about and barked on seeing him. The owner of the dog was stumped, as he could not take the animal along and did not have time to return home with it and get his train. The dog, unaware of the trouble he had made by following the cab from home, tried to be playful, just his master was angry. While the crowd laughed the owner concluded to take a later train and, bundling the dog into the vehicle, ordered the driver to go back to Squirrel hill.

They go to attend a meeting of the executive committee of the National league tomorrow at St. Louis and will endeavor to have the National Convention of League Clubs meet in Philadelphia next year to commemorate the bi-centennial of the first Republican convention held in that city and which nominated John C. Fremont for president.

Mr. Edwards said he expected to meet Mr. Moore at the station, but he was not about when the train started west.

MAY BE EASY FOR MR. JEROME

He Is a Possibility for the Republican and Democratic Nominations.

HUGHES WILL QUIT THE RACE

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Herald Building, Herald Square,
NEW YORK, Oct. 8.

With only a few days before final decision regarding his candidacy is reached, political interest in both parties is centering in District Attorney Jerome. If he is nominated by Democrats on Thursday night and Republicans the following night he will be eliminated as an active campaigner; he will make no speeches, no attacks on either machine, but wait to be elected.

If he is nominated only by the Republicans he will get out and work from the day after the county convention until the eve of election day, and Tammany, it is predicted, will be bitterly and mercilessly attacked. Should the Democrats indorse him he might take the stump, though it is unlikely. Tammany indorsement—a remote possibility—would, his friends believe, insure his election. If the Democratic machine sets the example the Republican organization will follow, so it is said by men high in political circles, if Mr. Murphy wishes to keep Mr. Jerome out of the campaign he has only to indorse him.

In case neither party nominates him, according to information from his headquarters, he will wage a campaign that will be a record-breaker in more ways than one. He is laden with campaign arguments and data, and, it is said by men close to him, will arraign both parties in a way that they have not been arraigned in years. Every corner of the city will be visited every night and the shortcomings of both parties and their leaders will be bared as only a man with Mr. Jerome's familiarity with public affairs is able to bare them.

It is freely stated by Mr. Jerome's friends that he confidently expects indorsement on the Republican ticket, and it is pretty certain, they say, that Tammany, through fear of his opposition, will place him on its ticket.

Rumors have been current yesterday and today that Charles E. Hughes, chief counsel of the legislative insurance investigating committee, would decline the Republican nomination for mayor of New York, made at the city convention last Friday. In reply to these stories Mr. Hughes said tonight that no one should infer from anything he had said that he either accepted or declined.

"In accordance with my agreement with the nomination committee," said he, "I shall not make known my decision until I meet that committee tomorrow. During the past two days I have received a large number of telegrams and letters from friends and prominent men; some of these urge me to accept, others urge me to decline."

William Halpin, chairman of the Republican county committee, said tonight relative to the nomination of Mr. Hughes:

"If Mr. Hughes accepts the nomination for mayor the only work that the Republican party will ask him to do will be to write his letter of acceptance. We do not wish him to take one minute more from the work of the legislative investigating committee that he is now engaged on other than to write his letter."

It was declared by friends of Mr. Hughes tonight that he would decline the nomination. The city convention of the Municipal Ownership league will be held on Wednesday of this week.

CORNER STONE IS LAID OF HOLY FAMILY CHURCH

Father Lambing of Wilkinsburg Officiates at Latrobe in Absence of Bishop Canevin.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

LATROBE, PA., Oct. 8.—(Special.)—The corner stone of the new Holy Family Roman Catholic church was laid this afternoon in the presence of over 5,000 people. The Rev. Father A. A. Lambing, pastor of St. James' church of Wilkinsburg, conducted the exercises in the absence of Bishop Canevin. The sermon was preached by the Rev. Father Paul Ryan of Chicago, a noted Carmelite missionary.

The services were brief. After a procession of the priests around the walls the holy water was blessed by the Rev. Father Lambing and the foundation for the stone sprinkled. A psalm was intoned by the priests, followed by prayer. The name of the church was pronounced by Father Lambing, who then with a trowel traced the sign of the cross in the mortar. The heavily-carved corner stone was then lowered into place after prayer, the litany of the saints was intoned and the stone was sprinkled with holy water, as were also the walls of the church, and the services closed with a benediction by Father Lambing.

In the parade hundreds of members of Catholic societies from Irwin, Derry, Jeannette, Greensburg and Scottdale were in line. Father Lambing and the other visiting priests were met at the depot by a delegation which included besides Chief Marshal Joseph A. Donnelly and his aids, the mayor and city council, the church committee, and the cadets of the Holy Family church, dressed entirely in white, who acted as a guard of honor.

Small Blaze in Powerhouse.

A crossed electric wire in the powerhouse of the Baltimore & Ohio yards in Water street caused a small blaze shortly after midnight. The loss was trifling and the flames were extinguished before the engines were required to go into service. Nevertheless, the long parade of fire apparatus down Smithfield street caused much excitement and stirred the Sunday night rounders to sit up and take notice.

CRITICAL MOMENT FOR VENEZUELA

Judge Calhoun's Report to the President Will End the Dispute.

HE WILL BE HOME TODAY

THE PITTSBURCH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Room 16, Postal Building,
WASHINGTON, D. C., Oct. 8.

Upon the report which Judge Calhoun, the President's special commissioner to Venezuela, will be prepared to render when tomorrow he lands in New York, depends much in the future policy of the United States toward the country. His instructions were to get accurate information as to domestic and foreign conditions. His report will be most intimate, but it will never be published in its entirety. As a man accustomed to the working of Latin-American governments Judge Calhoun will doubtless touch on facts concerning Venezuelan affairs, which good relations and prudence would not permit to be exposed to the world.

Judge Calhoun will be able to inform the President on the Caracas end of the differences between France and Venezuela. He had many conferences with M. Taigny, the French charge with whom Venezuela has declined to deal. France, in addition to announcing her determination to protect the rights of the French Cable Company which the Venezuela courts have deprived of its concession, has given vent to her resentment at the affront which she considers Venezuela has offered her national dignity by refusing to deal with M. Taigny.

In certain quarters here the belief is expressed that Judge Calhoun's report will be favorable to Venezuela. This is purely a personal opinion, however.

THIEVES USE WAGON TO HAUL AWAY LOOT

General Store at Verona Plundered of Clothing, Underwear, Drygoods, Etc.

Burglars entered the dry goods store of Clark & Ray at Verona yesterday morning and took a wagonload of articles away. The county detectives were notified of the robbery at 6 o'clock yesterday morning and Detectives Reed, Kohen, O'Brien, Armstrong and McMillen were detailed on the case.

The burglars secured a ladder from a nearby paint shop and entered the store by a window at the side of the building. They opened the back door and, it is thought, backed a wagon up to the rear. Suits of clothes, underwear, dry goods, dresses and suit cases were hauled away.

One of the burglars left a pair of old corduroy trousers in the store. It is thought they had been worn by a railroad laborer. The bottoms of the trousers showed they had been exposed to mud and water. The officers learned several negroes had come from Unity in a wagon and Detectives Reed and Sonnefelt went there.

THREATEN A SENSATION.

Attorneys for Indicted Packers May Expose Federal Officers Connected With Inquiry.

CHICAGO, Oct. 8.—(Special.)—When the attorneys for the beef packers appear before Judge Humphrey tomorrow to present their arguments in support of the demurrers to the indictment, it is rumored they will attempt to launch a sensation calculated to put a stop to the investigation. It was declared today by a man in touch with the situation that the packers have it in their power to expose certain federal officials, who are connected with the investigation.

It is said that the packers are willing to go to trial on the first count of the indictment, but that if all the nine counts are sustained the bomb will be thrown. What the nature of the proposed attack is has not been made public.

Disastrous Fire Averted.

Fire broke out in the rear of the Penn Ice Company's plant, Wilkinsburg, at 3 o'clock yesterday afternoon, but was extinguished after damage to the extent of about $100 had been done. The fire broke out in a room in which was stored a large quantity of oil, and it was thought for a time that the entire building was doomed, but the quick work of the fire department confined the flames to one room.

Woman Gets a Bad Scare.

While a Hamilton avenue car was turning the corner at Hamilton and Brushton avenues last night the trolley pole suddenly snapped off, struck the edge of the roof and fell to the ground, one end striking Mrs. S. W. McCurdy of 5242 Gertrude street, on the foot. The affair caused quite a little excitement, as the cries of the woman caused the car full of passengers to believe a very serious accident had occurred.

Jokers Make Merry

The first fire alarm rung in Etna since the resignation of the old volunteer fire department on account of a difference with the borough council, occurred last night near midnight, and proved to be a false alarm. It is thought that the alarm was a practical joke at the expense of the new company which took the places left vacant by the resigning firemen, and President W. B. Kroesen of the borough council said that a councilmanic investigation would be made into the affair.

a new fabric

Dress Goods Department just landed its first importation of French All Silk Voile in the most beautiful shades imaginable—Cream and medium and dark colors and Black,

46 inches wide, $2.00

It's very sheer and soft—between a sheer Wool Voile and a regular Silk Chiffon—a most excellent fabric that will unquestionably meet instant favor.

Sale of another thin fabric—$2.00 Silk and Wool Chiffon Eolienne, $1.00 a yard
—Champagne, Cadet, Alice Blue, Mode, Brown, Rose, Cream and Black—46 inches wide.

New York agent of the foreign manufacturer wished to retire, and, of course, had to close his accounts, but first had to liquidate his stock as he was responsible for it, and to do it quick made the low price.

Another of the many reasons why this Dress Goods store deserves your preference and then we'll close the Dress Goods argument for today.

Genuine Imported silk mixed French Crepe de Paris—all colors, Cream and Black, 39 inches wide, 50c.

P. S.—Raspberry, Plum and Dahlia, the much wanted shades—are here in correct tones in all-wool French Voile and Eolienne at various prices.

sale lace curtains

About 500 patterns, over 10,000 pairs.

50c to $7.50 a pair.

We have not bought the rejections of a mill nor any wholesaler's undesirable surplus, but offer you selection on a better basis, from the choicest designs the best makers produced this year.

Values $1.00, $2.50 and $5.00 a pair that will prove it conclusively.

The other day a New York wholesaler wanted us to buy his stock of several thousand pairs at 25 per cent discount, but what was the use when we buy selected designs made to our order from the same mills he does, at the same price he does and he had probably added a third to that price, so if he did give us 25 per cent off that would make his old stuff cost us the same as our choice goods.

Some stores would have jumped at the chance and make a big fuss about it in the papers, but that wouldn't be any better for you.

You see the style and quality of the Wire Net Curtains we're selling for $2.00 a pair.

We are wholesalers as well as retailers and we retail Curtains for a small profit on the manufacturer's cost—less, in most cases, than purely retail houses have to pay for them.

Just got in a new stock of 4-yard Curtains.

New stocks of foreign Curtains just arrived. Cluny, Colbert, Marie Antoinette, Renaissance, Lacet Arabian, Duchess, Irish Pointe, Brussels Pointe, Pointe de Saxe, Broiderie Anglaise, Queen Anne, Henry II., First Empire, Colonial and real hand-made Filet Italian.

TROLLEY SYSTEM TO BE ENORMOUS

Holland-American Company's Elaborate Plans for Electric Railway.

IS A WESTINGHOUSE CONCERN

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU,
Herald Building, Herald Square.
NEW YORK, Oct. 8.

Some details of the vast project for the carrying out of which the Westinghouse controlled Holland-American Construction Company has been organized, can now be given. The company, some reference to which has already been made in The Gazette, has been brought into being for the purpose of constructing the most extensive electric railway system ever projected by Americans in continental Europe. The initial scheme embraces the building of a railroad extending from the German frontier to the North sea, covering a distance of 125 miles. Later on the construction of several branches are proposed which will exceed the mileage of the main line. Four of the men primarily interested in the project are now on their way to Europe regarding the undertaking.

The western terminus of the proposed line will be at Wykandozee, a town of some 5,000 population on the shore of the North sea, about three miles north of the west end of the Amsterdam canal. The main line is to cross Holland in a generally southeast direction to Arnheim, located about a dozen miles from the German frontier. From Wykandezee it will run a little south of due east to Zaandam, where it will take a southerly course and enter Amsterdam, the principal city in Holland.

Will Tap Fertile Fields.

Continuing in approximately the same southerly direction the main line will cross the canal that connects the Rhine with the Zuyderzee, to Utrecht. In the latter city a turn to the east will be made and the road will cross the fertile fields of the lower Rhine valley to Rhenen, a small town some five miles north of the Rhine, where it will turn slightly north of due east to its eastern terminus in Arnheim.

In addition to the before-mentioned route, it is possible that the system will be extended by the construction of numerous branches so that ultimately the entire lines to be built by the Holland-American Company may aggregate some 250 miles. One of the branches will probably extend from Utrecht southwesterly to Rotterdam and northwesterly to The Hague, the Dutch capital. Another may parallel the North Sea-Rhine canal between Utrecht and Govinchem. A third may extend from Utrecht, a little north of east to Amersfoort. From Arnheim the road may eventually be extended to Zutphen, a city of about 40,000 population, located about 20 miles northeast of the proposed eastern terminus of the initial system.

Wykandeze, the proposed western terminus of the line to be constructed in the first instance, is not now in direct land communication with Amsterdam, but from Zaandam to Arnheim the road will practically parallel steam lines already in operation.

Will Also Carry Freight.

Both freight and passengers will be carried by the proposed road on its main line and branches. The ballasting of the lines will be in accordance with the best American practice and the rails will be of the heaviest in order to permit of the highest speed possible. The average speed to be maintained between towns is expected to exceed 50 miles an hour. The road will be constructed on a private right of way, as is necessary under the Dutch laws.

Some idea of the probable success of the road as a passenger carrier when it is completed may be gathered from a comparison of figures. In 1895, the latest figures that are available, there was an average of 59,000 passengers carried to every mile of railroad in the United States, and about 420,000 a mile in Holland. In other words, there were between six and seven passengers carried over every mile on the Dutch railroad in that year, for every passenger carried a mile in America. This is easily accounted for by the relative densities of population. In some sections, the sparsely settled districts of the west and southwest, it was as low as 25,000 a mile, while in New England it averaged the highest, 278,000 a mile, only a little over one-half as much as in the Netherlands. The population of Holland is about 5,500,000, and the area is 12,648 square miles, giving an average population per square mile for the entire country of 423 persons.

A Westinghouse Concern.

As already stated in The Gazette, the board of directors of the Holland-American Company includes the names of four Westinghouse men, viz.: George C. Smith, vice president of the Security Investment Company of Pittsburgh, of which George Westinghouse is president; Walter D. Uptegraff of the same concern; Newcomb Carlton, fourth vice president of the Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company, who has charge of the financial end of the Westinghouse Electric interests in New York, and Joseph H. Lukach, a director and financial head of the British Westinghouse Electric and Manufacturing Company Limited.

John F. Alden, at one time prominently identified with the American Bridge Company; J. George Kaelber, Charles H. Palmer and John H. Beckley, who are also largely concerned in the new company have sailed for Europe. On reaching the other side they will be joined by Mr. Lukach and the whole party will proceed to Holland, regarding the gigantic enterprise, the carrying out of which will mean an expenditure of upwards of 35,000,000, and the shipment of hundreds of thousands of dollars of material and equipment from Pittsburgh.

Gen. Randall Retires.

George Morton Randall, commander of the Northern division of the United States army, with headquarters in St. Louis, retired from command. He will be succeeded by Brig.-Gen. John F. Weston, who has been commissary general of subsistence of the army. Maj.-Gen. Randall's army service embraced 44 years.

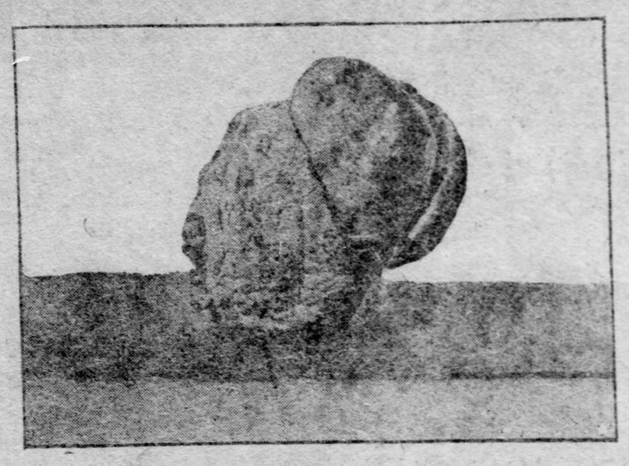
FREAK POTATO HAS BURR LIKE A CHESTNUT



T. C. Fleming of Franklin, Pa., has a curiosity in the shape of a fully developed new potato, growing out of an old one, in much the same manner as chestnuts grow in burrs. The freak was found in a barrel of last year's potatoes. It will be sent to agricultural authorities of the state.

WOULD INCREASE TONNAGE OF THE BATTLESHIPS

Policy of Admiral Dewey Will Be Recommended to Secretary Bonaparte—Proposition Will Be Urged Upon Congress.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—In pursuance of the policy recently announced by Admiral Dewey of hereafter building 18,000-ton battleships, armed with a main battery of 10 or 12 12-inch guns without intermediate calibers, the general board of the navy has recommended to Secretary Bonaparte that congress be asked to increase the displacement of the battleships Michigan and South Carolina, authorized at the last session, from 16,000 to 18,000 tons.

The advocates of batteries exclusively of the large calibers have presented their case with effect. Although the ships were authorized last March no designs for them have been approved. The secretary, and doubtless the President, will urge congress to make an additional authorization of three new 18,000-ton battleships. The request for increase of the tonnage of the Michigan and South Carolina is simply resorted to in order that they may be made the best type of war craft.

Secretary Bonaparte, it is hoped by naval officers, will pass the recommendation of the general board on to the President.

UNCLE SAM'S RELATIONS WITH CUBA TO BE TESTED

The Island Republic's Proposed Treaty With Great Britain Brings Up the Question of the Favored Nation—Under Wing of United States.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—It is evident that the first serious test of the relations between the United States and Cuba, since the adoption of the Platt amendment, has come over the treaty now pending in the Cuban senate between the island republic and Great Britain.

The subject has been taken up by Secretary Root and he and Mr. Quesada, the Cuban minister, discussed the subject yesterday. It is understood that Secretary Root has not yet decided whether he will insist on the objections which the United States has already made to the treaty, but the probabilities are that he will do so.

It should not be understood that the pending treaty in any way enables Great Britain to participate in the low rates of duties existing between the United States and Cuba under the reciprocity treaty negotiated in Washington. These duties are especially exempt.

The United States objects to articles 1, 2, 3, 5, 6 and 9. These deal with shipping and navigation. They provide for all advantages as to port charges, harbor dues, the right to refit and provision for warships and merchant vessels that are granted to the most favored nation. The Cubans in their contention assert that there is nothing that can be construed as inimical to the United States in the ninth article, which gives British warships special privileges in Cuban ports. All warships, they say, now have the right to repair and refit in time of peace and in time of war they could remain 24 hours under international law governing the conduct of neutrals.

The United States is not quite so sure that there is nothing against her interests in this. In time of hostility British ships would be able to use Cuba as a base of operations, could take on coal, make repairs, and obtain supplies within a little more than 100 miles of the United States coast line. This, it is asserted, should not be allowed by treaty, especially in view of the fact that the United States is morally, if not in express terms, bound by the Platt amendment to make Cuba's cause her own in the event of any differences with a European power.

RUSSIAN PATRIOTS AROUSED AT LAST

Arrival of Gen. Kendratenka's Remains at St. Petersburg Causes Great Mourning.

RESPECT FROM ALL CLASSES

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

ST. PETERSBURG, Oct. 8.—The arrival of the body of Maj.-Gen. Kondratenko, commander of the Seventh East Siberian rifles, who was killed last December at Port Arthur, and its interment in the venerable Alexander Nevsky monastery today, were marked by the most impressive military and civil spectacle witnessed here since the early days of the war. For once all classes of the population of the capital awakened from that apathy which was untouched by the news of the battles of Mukden and the Sea of Japan or the announcement of the conclusion of peace.

Thousands of spectators, standing silent and uncovered in a drizzling rain, wailed the broad Nevsky prospect from the Moscow station to the gates of the monastery, while grand dukes, ministers of state, courtiers and the highest officers of the army and navy, many of whom had won distinction at Port Arthur and in Manchuria, followed the coffin on foot through the muddy streets as common mourners, with the widow and son of the dead general.

In the procession could be seen the uniforms of every organization of Russian military. Each regiment of the St. Petersburg garrison sent a detachment of veterans, many bearing the 30-year service medals, to form the military escort.

Conspicuous among the clergy were two militant priests from Port Arthur, wearing the broad yellow and black ribbons of the Order of St. George, awarded them for gallantry during the siege. Many cities were represented by deputations. The emperor had been expected to attend, but as he was unable to do so he was represented by Grand Duke Vladimir.

Metropolitan Antonius, assisted by the imperial choristers, celebrated the "Panicheda," or requiem, and eulogized Gen. Kondratenko as "the soul of the siege, for when he died the fortress fell."

MR. GATES ADMITS SOME HARD SWEARING IS DONE

Policeman Hales Him and Companions Into Court for Villifying Him, but Case Doesn't Hold.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—(Special.)—John W. Gates was a witness in Yorkville police court this morning, together with two Wall street brokers, Alpheus Hudson and Alfred Dryer, in behalf of Francis Miles, who is Mr. Gates' chauffeur.

"The three other men in the automobile swore at me, too," said Patrolman Ryan. "They used vile language in such a manner as to attract a crowd, and, telling me that I was 'too fresh,' threatened to have me fired. This man pointing to Mr. Hudson—jumped out of the automobile in a threatening manner to take my number."

"I am not accustomed to using foul language," said Mr. Gates, who was represented in court by Abraham Hummel, "and I don't believe these two friends of mine are." Mr. Gates, admitted, however, there had been hard swearing on both sides, and Magistrate Whitman discharged the prisoners, saying that he thought the policeman had failed to make out a case.

GEN. BOOTH'S SCHEME FAILS.

Proposal to Colonize the Salvation Army in Australia Collapses—Will Avoid a Conflict.

LONDON, Oct. 8.—The colonizing scheme of Gen. Booth of the Salvation Army appears to have collapsed, as far as Australia is concerned. Gen. Booth proposed to send out 5,000 families, provided the Australian government would give them land. The government announced its willingness to consider the scheme, but the colony called loudly for a process of selection in order to prevent the immigration of needy colonists.

As a result, Gen. Booth cabled Alfred Deakin, prime minister of Australia, expressing his regret that, owing to these difficulties, he cannot proceed with an effort that is likely to involve a conflict.

CINCINNATI, Oct. 8.—Cy Seymour is the king of the National batsmen. Over Wagner, the persistent challenger of the Reds' right to the high title of baildom, Seymour won today decisively in the double-header with the Pirates.

The season is ended. The Reds won two grandly played games as the finale and a triple play, the fifth in which the Reds have been concerned this year, saved the first game, but they were mere incidents to the termination of the batting duel.

The memory of man runneth not to the time when before the Reds had among them a champion batter. There was scant chance today for Wagner to displace Seymour from the leadership, but even had there been Cy. would still have triumphed, for in the test of the last day he doubled the inside count of the Carnegie Dutchman. Four times in seven Seymour hit safely and once for a double, while Wagner hit but twice in an equal number of chances with Seymour.

More than 10,000 enthusiastic fans bid the season adieu when in the eighth inning of the second game Umpire Klem called the game on account of darkness. The temper of the great outgoing was for swats. Interest centered on Seymour and Wagner. They met and shook hands. Everybody cheered. Seymour thoughtfully wiped his eyes and grinned. Wagner walked over and hefted Seymour's bat and sighed. Cy looked at Hans' stick, drew his form up in three-bagger posture and swung it mightily, then carefully laid it down. Services concluded, both took a chew of tobacco (from different plugs) and the game was on.

Ten minutes later Seymour tried to tear Wagner's arm off with his first hit. When Wagner struck out his first time up 10,000 fans yelled. Every swipe at the leather by either of the mighty pair caused craned attention until the last.

The sharpest bit of work was the triple massacre that dranged Overall out of a hole of his own digging.

Without warning in the seventh inning Overall departed far from the paths of pitching rectitude. He passed Ritchey, Gibson, Case and Clymer. That force din one run and left the bases full. Overall pitched 14 balls without once hearing the call of "strike." Then, with no more warning than he gave before he flew the track, the big pitcher steadied. Gamley was up facing the crowded situation. Overall made him hit. Seymour got the fly and Gibson potted for the plate after the catch. The champion's throw was perfect, Schlei stabbed Gibson at the plate and turned to see Case foot between second and third plainly undecided as to his destination. Schlei threw to Hinchman, who whipped the ball to Corcoran and Case was out diving for second.

With absolutely nothing of moment depending upo nthe result of the games except the contest between Seymour and Wagner, the teams played to the last ounce. There was never a letup on either side. Dave Brain kicked himself off the lot. There was no scoring against Case until the sixth inning. One run dribbled in in the sixth, seventh and eighth.

The Pirates were stopped in the ninth by the second great play of the game. With Ritchey on first, Gibson lined ever second. Hinkins brought the ball down with one hand and doubled Ritchey. Leach made the other extra good clutch against Overall. He took the pitcher's liner with one hand in deep center and doubled Siegle at first. The youngster had rounded second, so sure was he that the drive was safe. The scores:

JAMES COONEY PRINCETON'S GREAT FOOTBALL LEADER

Cooney is one of the greatest football players of the day. The Princeton team is being built around him. Along with Herring, the other tackle, he repeatedly takes the ball, and it is evident they will form the bulwark of the Princeton attack this year. He prepared for Princeton at Exeter, being captain of that team his last year there. He has another year at Princeton.

COLLEGE AND SCHOOL NEWS

Charles Carter has been elected captain of the East Liberty Academy football team.

Sam Reid, captain of the Princeton baseball team, has been looking over the freshmen material. Don Doyle, the pitcher, has been assisting him in the coaching. Leitz of Brooklyn High school; Vaughan, from Exeter; Heynigle, from Lawrenceville, look promising.

U. of P. will have a strong basketball team this year. Sprague, Ehlers, George Flint of Pittsburgh and Walker, varsity players, are back. Stein of last year's Pittsburgh High school team, will be a candidate for the team. Laurence, last year's captain, will not be in college this year. Lesendefer of Swathmore, Schaffer of Franklin and Marshall, Klneth and Klefaber from Philadelphia High school, Rankin, from Brown Preparatory school, and many other new men will be out for the team. Defoe and Mike Murphy will coach.

The athletic committee at Mercersburg academy recently made the following appointments: Manager of baseball team, Theodore Henry Frank, Allegheny; captain of track team, Daniel Morris Smith, Atlantic City, N. J.; assistant manager of football team, Wilber Wallace White, New York city.

The W. and J. Academy team will play the Wilkinsburg High school at Washington October 14; at Kiski October 21, Pittsburgh High School at Washington, October 28, and Washington High school, November 18.

Three of Notre Dame's best football players, Hill, Paupa and Rennacker, withdrew from the university Saturday night and will return to their homes in Chicago. They claim Coach McGlew did not treat them right or give them a fair show. Paupa will doubtless enter the University of Chicago, but the plans of Rennacker and Hill are unknown. All are eligible for spring athletics provided they enter school immediately.

HARD WORK IS OUTLINED

W.U.P. to Be Pointed This Week for Remaining Hard Games. W. & J. Is Encouraged.

The W. U. P. football team will be sent through hard practice all this week by Coach Mosse and Capt. Thompson. The showing against Westminster Saturday at Friendship park, which team almost handed a defeat to the local collegians, was not relished by the coaches. The next game will be with California State Normal, Saturday, but this is not expected to be a hard contest, as the normal eleven was beaten by West Virginia Saturday, which team Westminster won from Saturday a week ago, 15 to 0.

It is the hard games on the card that worries the coaches. The next hard game will be at Cornell Saturday week. In Saturday's game with Westminster the new players of whom much was expected failed to shine with any alarming degree of brilliance, unless it be be Art Greggs, who went at right half, relieving Capt. Thompson. Greggs ran with the ball like a big varsity man, and picked out the openings with good judgment. Of the older players Jed Schmidt showed to the best advantage. He started the game at halfback, but went to tackle when Zelg was sent to the side lines for slugging. Schmidt hit the line as of old, but his punts did not go as far as he usually send them. Perry showed flashes of last year's form.

The Westminster team showed the benefits of the coaching under Jack Lang. Game to the core, fast and speedy, they "hung on" until the last few minutes of play, when W. U. P. made both its touchdowns. This is undoubtedly the best eleven Westminster has had in recent years. Coach Lang, after the W. and J. game, predicted Westminster would win from all the minor colleges in Western Pennsylvania. Lang attended the Allegheny-Geneva game Saturday at Geneva. Westminster meets Allegheny next Saturday.

Jim Humbard, captain of the Andover team two years ago, was at the game Saturday. The work of M. Scott, the Westminster quarterback, caught his eye.

The W. and J. stock is rising. The Washington collegians were delighted at the showing Westminster made Saturday. Westminster, in its opening game, was beaten at Washington, 21 to 0. W. and J. watched the Princeton-Georgetown game with interest. Georgetown is scheduled to play W. and J. in Pittsburgh at Friendship park October 28, which will be the first time Georgetown has ever played in the west. The Tigers took Georgetown over 34 to 0, while Princeton got away with a 22 to 0 score. In one week, however, there was a vast improvement in the Princeton team. Georgetown has a heavy eleven.

Hopes are being entertained at Shadyside of another winning team. Saturday's decisive victory of the first eleven over the Greensburg High school was encouraging. The scrub team was sent against the Westmorelanders in the first half, but it retired at the close of the half with the score of 23 to 5 against. The first team ran up a total of 55 to 28. A long run, almost the entire length of the field by Ches. Babst, was a feature.

Mount Pleasant, the Indian, and Magee of State had a great even punting duel Saturday at Harrisburg. Mount Pleasant started the duel. This quiet, fruit like 145-pound Indian, who can broad jump 23 feet 7 inches, run the quarter-mile in 52 seconds and get over a mile of territory in 4 minutes 40 seconds, booted the pigskin for distances averaging 45 yards. In fact, both kickers sent the ball so long, far and so low that their ends were invariably 10 yards behind it. If Magee and Mount Pleasant had sent their spirals higher the chances are the opposing backs would have fumbled some of their twisters and the ends would have had a chance to show their brilliancy. Another man who shone brightly for State was Carl Morehead, their quarterback; he ran back kicks in good style and circled the Indian ends from his quarterback place for definite gains.

At Princeton Saturday there was a good deal of star playing done. McCormick, who has been on the field but a few days, did splendid work, and time and again smashed through with the Tigers rushing in at his heels like a torrent. Dabb was into things up to his neck, and Bard did good work at punting. Fryer was in at end, and it is noticeable that his presence there has been practically continuous. He made one long run of 65 yards. Waller held the critical position in place of Carothers, and is very aggressive. Tenney's running was, as usual, a noticeable feature.

Against Case the interference given the Michigan runners was good. The players responded willingly to Norcross' call, "Now, everybody knock somebody over." Whenever a runner fell over somebody that had been "knocked" there were three Michigan men there to pull him along for another yard. It was Yost football.

Yale found Syracuse a stubborn proposition. Yale secured the ball on a muff at the Syracuse 35-yard line and rushed it over in short plunges for the only touchdown of the first half. Flinn made two rushes of eight yards each and Veeder was driven outside left tackle for the touchdown. He failed to kick goal. Yale's third touchdown was made in a sensational manner, Yale rushing the ball to the Syracuse 15-yard line, where it was penalized 15 yards. The chance of scoring seemed gone, when Jones, on the next play, made a quarter back run for a touchdown, by superb dodging. He kicked goal, mounting Yale's score to 16.

GREAT INTEREST IN BIG SERIES

Mathewson Will Pitch for Giants Today and Plank for the Athletics.

NATIONALS ARE THE FAVORITES

[By Associated Press to The Gazette.]

PHILADELPHIA, Oct. 8.—Arrangements have been completed for the opening here tomorro wof the series of baseball games between the New York National league club and the Philadelphia American league club, winners of the 1905 championship of their respective leagues. Extraordinary preparations have been made to handle the crowds, which are expected to be the largest that have ever attended a baseball game in this city. The fact that this series is the first of its kind in the history of the national game here has aroused more interest than any preceding baseball event.

Manager Mack of the Philadelphia club tonight received the following telegram:

"Congratulations, you and your boys, on winning pennant, and you have the best wishes of myself and White Sox in the coming contest with New York.

"CHARLES COMISKEY."

President Johnson of the American league arrived tonight. President Pulliam of the National league and Garry Hermann, who with President Johnson constitute the national commission, will arrive tomorrow. The New York players will also reach here tomorrow and a large delegation of New York enthusiasts is expected to come with the team.

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—(Special.)—New York's champion Giants and their horde of loyal followers will descend upon Philadelphia tomorrow intent upon scoring the first victory in the series for the world's championship at the expense of "Connie" Mack's American league champions, the Athletics. It is expected that these games will be the greatest in the history of the game in point of widespread public interest. The Giants go to Philadelphia slight favorites for the series and in the best of shape for a hard struggle.

It is extremely likely that "Christy" Matthewson will be sent to the slab to handle the first contest, which the Giants are determined to win. His opponent probably will be Plank, since the defection of Waddell, the Athletics' strongest twirler.

Some bets were recorded today, mostly small. These were in some cases at even money on the first game and 5 to 4 on the Giants on the series.

There was a rumor tonight that the New York players would refuse to go on the new field unless assured of more liberal treatment by the National commission in the matter of receipts, but it could not be verified, and the nature of the players' contracts is such as to make such a move extremely perilous to their interests.

INDEPENDENT BASEBALL.

Frank Haller, who managed the Boone club of the Iowa State league, which finished in third place this year, is negotiating for the purchase of a Western league franchise. If he secures it Haller will engage some local players. He would like to have "Lefty" Mosier, the second baseman who played great ball for the Pittsburgh collegians. Mosier is now at Indiana Normal. Haller fancies "Lefty" Jackson, who was with Fairmont this season, and has already offered him a job.

Pitcher Lew Schettler was taken west with Chicago Saturday night. Acting Manager Chance of Chicago liked the way the "Kid" performed in warming up Saturday. Schettler will go to the training grounds with Chicago next spring.

Billy Phyle, the Youngstown third baseman, will be with Harrisburg next year.

Jimmy Ferguson, the Sharon shortstop, has been offered a job by the Louisville club for next year. There is some talk of Ferguson managing the Franklin club next year.

Charles Atherton, according to Hump Badel, will return to Buffalo next year. Badel and McConnell are other Johnstown men who will be on the Bison team.

Hughey Jennings, the Baltimore manager, told Billy Evans at Youngstown that there is no money in barnstorming. Said Hughey: "There is no money in barnstorming, trips. I've been on many a one of them and I have yet to nick up any of the glittering gold that is promised you by the manager in every town you are booked to play in."

ARMSTRONG HAS FINE RECORD AT PRINCETON

WILLIAM ARMSTRONG.

Pittsburgh Boy Expects to Develop Successful Track Team for Tigers Next Spring.

William M. Armstrong, '07, who was recently appointed captain of the Princeton track team, is a graduate of Shadyside academy and holds several interscholastic records for Western Pennsylvania and Eastern Ohio. He has been on the Princeton track team two years and has won more points than any other man who has been on the team the same length of time. He equaled the high hurdle record of the university in his freshman year, the mark being 16 seconds. He broke the low hurdle record of the university, reducing it from 26 4-5 to 25 3-5.

His ran the high hurdles at Schenley park July 4, 1903, in 15 4-5, establishing a new Western Pennsylvania record. He also, the same day, ran the low hurdles in 25 3-5, a new mark for this event.

Last spring at Philadelphia, on Franklin field, after losing the semi-final heat of the high hurdles in 15 4-5, he entered the semi-finals low hurdles and beat Porter of Yale for second place. In the final of this race he won his letter with a grand third place, winning from Cates of Yale, being beaten by Ansler of Penn and Castlemath of Colgate. In this race he won from three men who had beaten him in the early part of the season at the Yale-Princeton and Cornell-Princeton dual meets.

Armstrong expects to develop a good team at Princeton this year. The material of the entering class is very promising. Armstrong has had the benefit of two excellent coaches in Davy Sheehan, who trained him at Shadyside, and in Jim Robinson, the Princeton trainer.

Central	1	2	.333
Schenley	0	3	.000
Meadow	0	3	.000

Schedule for this week: Noname vs. Hillside, Monday; Kenwood vs. Shadyside, Tuesday; Meadow vs. Highland, Thursday; Central vs. Schenley, Friday.

Capt. Finnegan of the Glenwood team has called a meeting for Wednesday evening, 8 o'clock, on the Glenwood alleys.

Football Accident Is Fatal.

CHESTER, PA., Oct. 8.—John S. Summersgill, aged 17 years, a member of the Franklin football team of this place, died in the hospital today from injuries received during a game yesterday. Summersgill was rendered unconscious by a blow in the abdomen. He revived and resumed playing. Later he was accidentally kicked in the head and again became insensible. He was resuscitated and watched the game from the side lines. On the way home he fell to the ground and was removed to the hospital. His death was due to hemorrhage. Summersgill was married three months ago.

Irish Champion Shot Putter Here.

NEW YORK Oct. 8.—Denis Horgan of Banteer, County Cork, Ireland, champion amateur shot putter of Great Britain, arrived here yesterday. He says his object in coming here is to attempt to break the 16-pound shot put record of 49 feet 4 inches, held by W. W. Coe. He announced today that he will stay in America a year if necessary in order to make a new record with the 16-pound shot. In practice today he was able to put the 12-pound shot only 50 feet 7½ inches.

Brantford Beats All Chicago.

CHICAGO, Oct. 8.—The Brantford lacrosse team of Brantford, Ont., defeated the all-Chicago eleven here today by the score of 11 to 5.

Harvard.

CAMBRIDGE, MASS., Oct. 8.—(Special.)—The splendid showing made by the substitutes in the game against the University of Maine yesterday afternoon paves the rules layer in the Harvard football circles this week, and many changes are now anticipated in the makeup of the Crimson eleven. Harvard's gridiron of fame has been developed faster than Reid looked for, and the team play is close to perfection. The finer points will be drilled in before the men get to scored practice and then speed will be secured for Reid's combination of trick plays.

Montgomery's work at left tackle yesterday will make the coaches do a little thinking. He weighs 188 pounds, stands 5 feet 10 inches and can move rapidly. The other tackle candidates are over the 200-pound mark, which is the only handicap Montgomery has to overcome.

SCHENLEY PARK'S BRIGHT FUTURE

Wilmot Street Bridge, Technical Schools, Race Track and New Street to Bring Crowds.

TRACTION FRANCHISE TALK

Large crowds visited both Schenley and Highland parks yesterday, in great contrast to the very few who went to them last Sunday. The fine weather was responsible for on the previous Sunday it was somewhat cool and foggy, and in the afternoon it looked for a while like rain. For several Sundays the business at Frank Lorenzo's restaurants has languished, but yesterday patronage was quite brisk.

Lorenzo believes that next summer Schenley park will be a sought-for resort. He pointed out yesterday that then the Technical schools will be in operation, the race track will have been finished and the weekly races resumed, the Wilmot street bridge will be completed and perhaps the new Boundary street will have been graded and paved. Over the Wilmot street bridge hundreds from the Craft avenue district and thousands from Soho will find a handy way to Schenley park, as it will save a mile along Forbes street to pedestrians. Hundreds of the students of the Technical school will be able to take that way to the school, and in the evening it is expected the route over the Wilmot street and Panther Hollow bridges will be a crowded thoroughfare, as it will be a short cut for a large population to the park restaurant and the Carnegie library. The new Boundary street will enable the residents from the mill district in Second avenue to get to the park and the Technical schools.

Many persons stood on the big bridge yesterday and looked down on the railroads and the present unopened Boundary street. All agreed that to put the street where the railroad tracks are and transfer the present route of the street, would be of benefit to the railroad company and a convenience to the public. Several spoke of the new proposed street as of value to the street car company that might secure a franchise over it, for street cars could run via Boundary to the street in front of the Technical schools and as far as the Murdoch entrance and with a little grading could be made to connect with the trolley tracks in Forbes street near Craig. So valuable will be the franchise, it seemed to be the general opinion that the city councils ought to exact heavy compensation for the privilege of running cars over the proposed new street.

It was hinted yesterday that there is a scheme on foot, after the city has traded the unopened part of Boundary street for the railroad right of way, which is 66 feet wide, either to give the franchise to some company to cover the whole street with tracks, or if there is too much opposition from the public, to pave the street only 50 feet in width, let the traction company occupy the other 16 feet, and try to quiet public outcry by making the traction company pave the 16 feet, as a poor equivalent to the public for exacting no compensation.

Ernest Tretow, head keeper at the zoological garden in Highland park, received four donations last week. J. S. Grubbs of the Westinghouse Machine Company presented what Tretow calls an American pheasant; Miss Matilda Maher of Liberty avenue donated a quail, and a Mr. Irwin of Boyle street and E. J. Kistler, an engineer on the Pennsylvania railroad, each gave a great American diver, which some call the dipper duck, or the "didapper."

BUCK ATTACKS A BOY.

Chases Lad Around Tree Until the Youngster Falls and Is Gored by the Infuriated Beast.

NEW HAVEN, CONN., Oct. 8.—(Special.)—An enraged deer buck, one of nine recently brought from Colorado, seriously wounded John Guinivan of Westville yesterday. The boy and his 9-year-old sister, Margaret, went into Marvel wood, a private woodland park owned by John M. Greist. The buck made for the children and the boy managed to engage the animal's attention, telling his sister to run. She escaped out of the gate in safety.

Around a tree boy and buck circled until the boy stumbled. The buck gored him in the leg. Young Guinivan caught the buck about the neck and clung to him until W. H. Dunlap, who was in the park also, came with an ax with which he dealt the buck a blow on the back, disabling it.

WOULD STICK TO RUSSIA.

Semi-Official French Newspaper Vigorously Urges Continuance of the Alliance With the Czar.

PARIS, Oct. 8.—The necessity for the maintenance of a Franco-Russian alliance is vigorously urged in the course of a leading article in the semi-official Temps, which points out that the public opinion of both countries is unanimously in favor of the continuance of the alliance. The article adds that the accords with Italy and Great Britain served to allay annoying misunderstandings, that both were the natural outcome of events and that France ought categorically to refuse to renounce them.

The Temps, however, does not favor an Anglo-French alliance which it says would be useful to Great Britain, compromising to France and would probably create trouble in Europe.

FARRELL HAS NOTHING WITH WHICH TO SHOOT

Arsenal Soldier Accused by Police With Threatening Man When Helplessly Drunk.

Because Michael Farrell, a soldier in Company I, First United States infantry, who is stationed at the Allegheny arsenal, had no firearm in his possession by which he could have carried out the allegation of the police that he tried to shoot a man, he was discharged when he appeared for a hearing in the Lawrenceville police station yesterday morning.

Saturday night Farrell was arrested, together with Harry Douglass, a civilian, living in Forty-second street, at the corner of Thirty-seventh and Butler streets, and both were charged with being disorderly persons. According to the police Farrell tried to shoot Douglass, but by the timely intervention of a brave bluecoat was discouraged of his motive.

Yesterday morning when both men appeared for their hearings, Lieut. J. F. Leonard of the Allegheny arsenal, appeared with several soldiers who were witnesses to the arrest. From their statements Farrell was intoxicated and unable to navigate successfully. Several of his companions met him and one was assisting to get him to the arsenal when a civilian approached and deliberately struck Farrell a blow in the face. The soldier aiding him then let go and Farrell fell to the pavement helpless, and unable to show any resentment. At this point the arrest took place.

The officers of the arsenal also stated that none of the men are permitted to carry any other firearm than their rifles and that no revolvers are permitted to be carried by the privates. Each Saturday morning an inspection is made of their effects and clothing, and last Saturday morning was no exception. When Farrell was arrested he had no firearm on his person.

OF INTEREST TO MINERS WAS THE SUNDAY GAZETTE

Great Paper Dealt Particularly With the Mass Meeting at Elizabeth.

The Sunday Gazette contained news of interest for the masses, but particularly to the miners was it a publication of importance. There was a rare assortment of news from foreign capitals and a fund of information from the country, state and city, all prepared in a manner well calculated to catch and hold the attention of readers.

A new cure for consumption was explained before the International Tuberculosis congress at Paris. Great Britain and Russia will reopen the discussion concerning their respective rights in Afghanistan.

A negro was pursued by a mob in Kentucky and sentenced on a moving train. Veteran lodgekeeper divulged the fact that Rockefeller's home is carefully guarded. Mr. Alfred East of London, one of the jury in the Carnegie institute's artists' exhibition, arrived in New York. Massachusetts Democrats in state convention named Gen. Charles W. Bartlett for governor. Young husband, declaring his wife is an angel and too pretty for him, shot himself. Secretary of the Navy Bonaparte excoriates Democratic ring rule in opening the Republican campaign in Maryland.

The Baltimore & Ohio will standardize the narrow gauge road from Foxburg to Kane, thus opening a big industrial district. Charles Schriner, who pleaded guilty to representing a county detective and collecting money from liquor dealers, claimed his lawyer advised him to skip his bail bond.

Common pleas court No. 1 has decided to change its rules relating to the appointment of commissioners and hear all divorce cases in open court. Ex-Judge Stowe has been selected by the judges to answer the mandamus proceedings to compel them to appoint a board of tax revision assessment and revision. President John Mitchell of the United Mine Workers of America addressed a large gathering at Elizabeth. There is every promise of a higher tax levy for Pittsburgh next year. Conductor Emil Paur promises fine programs for the coming season of the Pittsburgh orchestra. Popularity of William Dodds, Republican candidate for clerk of courts, was strikingly exemplified at the miners' meeting at Elizabeth. Fine showing was made in parade of the Boys' Brigade. New rule forbids excess of oratory at the trade extension excursions of the Merchants and Manufacturers' association. Republicans of the Sixth, Seventh and Eighth Legislative districts held large and enthusiastic meetings. Director E. M. Bigelow opened his campaign with a Citizens meeting in Old City hall.

Surplus reserves of the New York banks reduced to the smallest total of the year. Railroad equipment stocks were strong and higher, but the standard issues closed weak and lower. National Fire Proofing preferred declined to the lowest point of the year. Wheat eased off a shade.

The Pittsburgh ball team lost the last game of the season on the home grounds. National league batting averages show Cy Seymour in the lead, with Hans Wagner a close second. Association football season opened with close scores all along the line. W. U. P. found Westminster a hard nut to crack, but won, 11 to 6. Shadyside won from the Greensburg High school eleven. All of the big elevens won their games, Swarthmore scoring against U. of P. with a field goal. Roller polo will be introduced at Duquesne Gardens. W. C. Fownes, Jr., retains his title of amateur golf champion of Western Pennsylvania. Horse show starts at Sewickley this week. Uncle William and Frank Wilson won the open trot and pace at Brunot's island.

FIRES THE POLICE FORCE.

Faction Opposing the Mayor Makes Clean Sweep of His Appointees.

MONESSEN, Oct. 8.—(Special.)—This town is experiencing the most stormy time of its short municipal career, owing to the factional fight between the mayor and some members of the borough council. Thursday night council ousted the entire police force, but when the new appointees went to the town hall to be sworn in there was a demonstration by a crowd of 500 people, and the men refused to take the oath.

As a result, several personal encounters between the city solons and supporters of Mayor Shuster have been narrowly averted. There is also some feeling against council for granting the local trolley line a franchise to double-track its road for three squares in the southern end of Schoonmaker avenue. The right of way monopolizes the only thoroughfare in the city through which any other line could reach Monessen.

BIG TELEPHONE ORGANIZATION

Pittsburghers Interested in Far-Reaching Company to Rival the Bell Interests.

PROMINENT PEOPLE IN IT

Last Saturday, at Rochester, N. Y., the United States Independent Telephone Company completed its organization. This organization held preliminary meetings in Pittsburgh recently and several Pittsburgh capitalists are interested in the new movement, which is one of far-reaching effect.

Thomas W. Finucane, the new president of the company, made the following statement following the permanent organization:

The new directors in the company, beside myself, are: Adolphus Busch, president of the Anheuser-Busch Brewing Company; Walter B. Duffy, president of the New York and Kentucky Company; George Eastman, president of the Eastman Kodak Company; August Gehner, president of the German-American Bank of St. Louis; Robert C. Hall of Pittsburgh, head of the syndicate which owns the Pittsburgh and Allegheny Telephone Company of that city; Joseph J. Helm, president of the Kansas City Independent Telephone Company; James B. Hoge, president of the National Interstate Telephone Association; Hendrick S. Holden, of Syracuse, president of the Commercial National bank of that city; Breckinridge Jones, vice president of the Mississippi Valley Trust Company of St. Louis; William F. Nolker, president of the Kinlock Telephone Company; William H. Page, Jr., lawyer, of New York city; Eugene Satterlee, president of the German-American Bank of Rochester and president of the Stromberg Telephone Company; Hiram W. Sibley, capitalist. Mr. Sibley is a son of the late Hiram Sibley, who was one of the founders of the Western Union Telegraph Company and its president during the first 18 years of its existence; O. C. Snider, manager of the Kansas City Independent Telephone Company; Henry A. Strong of Rochester, vice president of the Eastman Kodak Companies; James S. Watson, vice president of the Security Trust Company of Rochester; John C. Woodbury, director of the Alliance bank of Rochester.

Purposes of New Organization.

The formation of the United States Independent Telephone Company is the first step in the movement to furnish telephone companies with standard apparatus and with a guarantee that their supply cannot be cut off through the absorption of manufacturing companies by the Bell interests; to knit together in connecting systems the independent telephone lines of the country, which, unappreciated as the fact may be in the east, today considerably outnumber the lines owned or controlled by the Bell Telephone Company; and to aid independent telephone companies in the installation of their plants and improvement of their service.

There are today over 5,000 telephone companies in this country independent of the Bell systems. In response to the demand of these companies for product and appliances and for a centralized unity of action the United States Independent Telephone Company has been incorporated.

The independent telephone lines represented directly or indirectly by or through one or another of our directors, comprise systems which extend substantially from Kansas City, Missouri, to New York.

Our plans have been the subject of consideration for some months, in result we acquired and now own franchise rights in New York city which in the opinion of our attorneys are similar in scope and character to those of the Bell Telephone Company.

Big Plant for New York.

These we propose to make the subject of the installation of a plant with a present capacity of 225,000 telephones and an ultimate capacity of 750,000 telephones for New York city and the tributary districts which environ it.

Our company today authorized its collateral trust mortgage of $25,000,000 and the underlying securities will comprise a control of the Stromberg-Carlson Telephone Manufacturing Company, which manufactures a thousand telephones a day and the New York Independent Company, which latter owns the franchise rights above referred to.

The bonds will be five per cent collateral 30-year gold bonds. The trustee of the mortgage is Security Trust Company of Rochester, N. Y. The coupons will be payable at its office and also at the Chemical National bank of New York city.

STICKS TO HIS POST.

Young Faulkner's Exalted Idea of Duty Leads to His Arrest While His Companions Escape.

Jesse R. Faulkner, 11-years-old, stuck to his post last evening, while all his companions fled, even though he saw a policeman bearing down upon him. Faulkner was arrested and taken to the Center avenue police station. He and 10 other boys had secured a light wagon and were taking it up to the top of Ridge street, near Faulkner's home, and then running it down hill. Isaac Verenstein, the owner of the wogan, complained to the police.

Faulkner was in the shafts and his friends were holding the wagon back so it might not run too fast. All saw the policeman coming and only Faulkner stood firm, backing hard in the shafts so that the wagon would not run into a crowd of little children playing in the street. His devotion to duty caused his arrest.

"I had been playin' policeman in the gang," said the boy, when arrested, "and bein' the policeman I thought it was my place to keep the kids from gettin' hurt. You couldn't a ketched me if I had run."

PITTSBURGHERS TO RAISE HEMP

Local Company Is Formed to Operate Plantations in the Philippine Islands.

WILL ALSO PRODUCE COPRA

Pittsburgh capitalists have organized a stock company, known as the Insular Commercial Company, for the purpose of engaging extensively in agricultural and commercial enterprises on the southern coast of the island of Leyte, Philippine islands.

The company has secured 500 acres of land upon which to begin operations and have the option of extending this purchase to 25,000 acres. The company proposes to devote itself chiefly to the culture of hemp, cocoa and copra, while it will also engage in trading along the coast to such extent as appears profitable.

The capitalization of the company is being subscribed entirely by local financiers and no stock is to be offered for public sale. Aside from the land secured, the company is in possession of a patent recently granted governing the manufacture of a machine for preparing hemp for market and removing it from the stalk or trunk of the wild plantian of the Philippine islands.

According to recent government reports the supply of hemp is but 3 per cent of the demand and the stockholders of the newly organized company claim that the land optioned by them is in a district where the hemp stalk grows wild and requires no replanting, and they look for 33 per cent net profit on their investment. Aside from hemp, the cocoanut tree is to be cultivated to offer shade to the hemp stalks and for the purpose of securing copra, which is dried cocoanut meat, and which is used extensively for the manufacture of oils.

An agent who has made an investigation in the Philippine islands for the company has made arrangements with export houses in Manila to take the product of the hemp plantation in shipload lots from the plantation and pay for same in cash upon receipt. It is proposed to place the land optioned under cultivation next spring and a number of the stockholders of the company will leave for the Philippine islands within the next few weeks to place the project in operation.

BISHOP CRANSTON RAPS AT YELLOW NEWSPAPERS

Says They Would Devote Ten Times the Space to Headlines That the Bible Takes to Announce Creation.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

BEAVER, Oct. 8.—The largest congregation that ever listened to a sermon in the Beaver valley gathered at the Methodist Episcopal church here this morning to hear Bishop Earl Cranston preach. It is estimated 1,700 people listened to the sermon.

Bishop Cranston in his sermon took occasion to throw out sly digs at the yellow newspapers. When he read his text, which was the last verse of the first chapter of Genesis: "And God saw everything that he had made, and behold, it was very good," he called his auditors' attention to the fact that only two lines were used in announcing the completion of the world and that the work was well done. Then he said: "Some of our daily newspapers would use ten times that space for headlines."

This afternoon the ordination of deacons and elders was held. The following were given deacon's order: J. J. Buell, D. R. Graham, H. E. Lewis and C. H. Powers. Elders, G. E. Brenneman, W. T. Hartley, D. L. Headly, Paul Weyand, W. M. Buzza, W. C. Strohmeyer and A. K. Travis. Bishop Thoburn preached a sermon tonight.

ANNA H. SHAW SCATHINGLY ATTACKS GROVER CLEVELAND

Denounces Him Before W. C. T. U. Convention for His Recent Published Criticisms on Women's Organizations—Calls Him "This Man."

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—The Pennsylvania Women's Christian Temperance union controlled all religious services in Washington today. The convention sermon was preached in the First Presbyterian church this morning by the Rev. Dr. Anna H. Shaw of New York. Nearly 2,000 persons heard her.

Dr. Shaw's text was taken from Psalm lxviii:11, "The word was given to women." Mrs. Shaw stated that the two greatest blessings of Christianity were the consideration of women and the poor.

"Women were not considered in the ancient religions," said Mrs. Shaw, "and their existence was a miserable one. Through Christianity conditions are greatly changed. The Women's Christian Temperance union takes its authority for the prominence of women from my text. Woman's influence is now paramount and it will grow. What we need is better mothers, and women will not exert their greatest influence until good mothers predominate all over the country."

Mrs. Shaw made a scathing denunciation of former President Grover Cleveland in her sermon.

"This man," she said, "has gone out of his way to criticise women's organizations, of which he knows nothing. Had he confined his speaking and writing to things of which he had knowledge his opinions would be given more weight."

This afternoon a mass meeting of Sunday school workers was held in charge of Mrs. Martha A. Irwin, state superintendent of the Sunday school department. The principal address was made by William C. Lilly, chairman of the general assembly on temperance of the Presbyterian church. The service tonight was of a devotional nature, in charge of the Rev. Dr. William E. Simmons, pastor of the First Presbyterian church. The feature of the evening was an address by Mme. Layyah Barakot of Philadelphia.

MOURNS NOT FOR WIFE, BUT WANTS MONEY BACK

Winowich Is Loser Helpmate, Child and Cash, and Young Servian Is Blamed.

George Winowich of South Twenty-eighth and Carson streets is mourning the loss of his wife, his 10-months-old baby, $150 in cash and a bank book showing a deposit of $1,400. These assets disappeared Saturday night, and Winowich alleges that they were accompanied by a handsome blonde Servian youth, aged 22.

According to the story told by the husband, the youth has been a frequent visitor at his home, and lately he has noticed that he was considerably enamored with his wife, Martha, whom he described as a beautiful Servian woman, aged 27. Saturday night he says Mrs. Winowich disappeared with the child, and upon her continued absence he became suspicious. Search throughout the house failed to reveal the $150 and the bank book, and the husband decided his wife had gone away.

At the Baltimore & Ohio station he says he was informed that a man and woman with a child were seen about the station, but he could not learn what train they had taken. He says he is not so much heartbroken over the loss of his wife, but he does mourn the loss of the cash and the bank book.

Two Men Employed on Carnegie Institute Are Held for Court.

John Doyle and Stephen Kennedy were arrested late Saturday night by Inspector James McEvoy and lodged in No. 4 police station, Oakland, where at a hearing before Alderman Negley yesterday each was held in $300 bail for court.

Doyle and Kennedy are stonecutters and have been working on the new addition to the Carnegie institute. Saturday night about 11 o'clock Thomas Crane, watchman at the offices of the contractors, heard a crash of glass in the office building, and going outside saw two men. They pounced on him as he stepped outside and while he administered a good beating to Kennedy, he was set upon by Doyle and severely handled. Crane was cut about the face and his right hip and leg were bruised badly.

No explanation can be given for the men being at the Carnegie building at the hour at which they were found. The men themselves refuse to speak.

SETBACK ON BOURSE.

French Market Suffers Check in Reviving Activity, but Monetary Situation Is Good.

PARIS, Oct. 8.—(Special Cable.)—The reviving activity on the bourse suffered a noticeable setback last week, though the monetary situation remains excellent. The balance sheet of the Banque de France makes a good showing, but the stiffening of the rates in London and Berlin cause fears that a monetary tension may ultimately reach here, especially if the foreign tension results in undue application to the money market here.

The forthcoming Russian and Japanese issues, too, indicate that a period of easy money rates is approaching, and foreign bonds are all slightly lower, but the bank shares made a marked advance.

SWEDEN TO ELECTRIFY HER STATE RAILWAYS

Success of Trial of Westinghouse Engine Induces Her to Place Huge Order for Them.

[BY PRIVATE WIRE TO THE GAZETTE.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—Private advices received here from Sweden state that the operation of the Westinghouse electric locomotive which was ordered some months ago for use on the Varta railway on the Swedish state railway system has been so satisfactory that it has practically been determined to allot a huge contract to the Westinghouse people for the locomotives to be utilized on the lines which are to be converted from steam to electric power.

The experiments on the Varta line have been going on for some six months past and have been made with a view to thoroughly testing various electric traction methods preparatory to a general electrification of the state railways.

The Westinghouse electric locomotive has been subject to most severe tests since last June, and has more than held its own against heavier German and Swedish locomotives. During the trial trips the current has been raised up to 25,000 volts.

ONLY SAFEGUARD IS VACCINATION

Dr. Dixon, State Health Commissioner, Gives Views About Smallpox.

PREVAILS THROUGH NEGLECT

THE PITTSBURGH GAZETTE BUREAU, HARRISBURG, PA., Oct. 8.

State Health Commissioner Dixon is taking precautions to prevent an epidemic of smallpox in Pennsylvania in the future by prescribing rules and regulations for physicians, health authorities and all other persons having anything to do with the suppression of contagious and infectious diseases. Dr. Dixon is a strong advocate of vaccination and in the regulations which he has prepared he says that prior to the discovery of vaccination by Jenner in 1798 smallpox for 18 centuries had an unknown record of successive epidemics with unparalleled mortality.

In the seventeenth century in Europe alone it has been estimated that 50,000 persons died of this disease. In Mexico it destroyed within a few years 2,500,000 persons. Dr. Dixon says its comparative absence for a period of over 50 years prior to 1898 has been absolutely and exclusively due to vaccination.

"Its presence in the United States since 1898," continues the doctor, "has been a tribute to the wanton indifference and neglect on the part of individuals and health authorities to avail themselves of the absolute protection of vaccination."

Dr. Dixon says that the entire sanitary management of smallpox is embraced in three procedures. First, vaccination; second, insolation and quarantine; third, disinfection.

Some of the suggestions which Dr. Dixon makes concerning vaccination are as follows:

Vaccinate every child before the completion of its first year; vaccinate every child upon its entrance to either a public, private or parochial school; except in the presence of smallpox perform your regular vaccinations in the late fall, winter or early spring months; do not give a certificate of successful vaccination until an examination has convinced you that such is the case; do not employ nurses or attendants who have not been recently successfully vaccinated.

Dr. Dixon's instructions to local health authorities for the sanitary management of smallpox provide that upon the receipt of a notification of the existence of a case of the disease action by the responsible health officials should be immediate and exhaustive.

He also directs that the quarantine of the patient and household be absolute; that the house be conspicuously placarded, and if guards are considered necessary to enforce quarantine, they should be placed immediately; trace every possible source of infection; quarantine domestic animals and pets; continue the quarantine for 20 days after the entire recovery of the most recent case and the disinfection of the premises, and in the case of school children for a further period of 20 days.

Dr. Dixon is convinced that if these regulations are observed there will be comparatively few cases of smallpox in Pennsylvania hereafter. He has also prescribed regulations for the government of typhoid fever cases, copies of which he expects to send out the next 10 days.

WESTMORELAND GROWING.

Based on Registrars' Returns, County Has 200,000 People, an Increase of 40,000 Over 1900.

IRWIN, Oct. 8.—(Special.)—The registrars of the county have finished their work. Estimated on their returns Westmoreland has a population of 200,000. This is an increase of about 40,000 over the census of 1900.

Collision of Two Necessities.

William Kennedy had his foot mashed and H. Rosenthal was cut on the head in a collision yesterday morning at Wylie avenue and State alley. The former was driving a newspaper delivery wagon and the latter a milk wagon. Both men were sent to the Homeopathic hospital.

THE ROOT OF THE MATTER

He Cured Himself of Serious Stomach Troubles, by Getting Down to First Principles.

A man of large affairs in one of our prominent eastern cities by too close attention to business, too little exercise and too many club dinners, finally began to pay nature's tax, levied in the form of chronic stomach trouble; the failure of his digestion brought about a nervous irritability making it impossible to apply himself to his daily business and finally deranging the kidneys and heart.

In his own words he says: "I consulted one physician after another and each one seemed to understand my case, but all the same they each failed to bring about the return of my former digestion, appetite and vigor. For two years I went from pillar to post, from one sanitarium to another. I gave up smoking. I quit coffee and even renounced my daily glass or two of beer, without any marked improvement.

"Friends had often advised me to try a well known proprietary medicine, Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets and I had often perused the newspaper advertisements of the remedy but never took any stock in advertised medicines nor could believe a fifty-cent patent medicine would touch my case.

"To make a long story short I finally bought a couple of packages at the nearest drug store and took two or three tablets after each meal and occasionally a tablet between meals, when I felt any feeling of nausea or discomfort.

"I was surprised at the end of the first week to note a marked improvement in my appetite and general health and before the two packages were gone I was certain that Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets was going to cure completely and they did not disappoint me. I can eat and sleep and enjoy my coffee and cigar and no one would suppose I had ever known the horrors of dyspepsia.

"Out of friendly curiosity I wrote to the proprietors of the remedy asking for information as to what the tablets contained and they replied that the principal ingredients were aseptic pepsin (government test), malt diastase and other natural digestives, which digest food regardless of the condition of the stomach."

The root of the matter is this, the digestive elements contained in Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets will digest the food, give the overworked stomach a chance to recuperate and the nerves and whole system to receive the nourishment which can only come from food. Stimulants and nerve tonics never give real strength, they give fictitious strength, invariably followed by reaction. Every drop of blood, every nerve and tissue is manufactured from our daily food, and if you can insure its prompt action and complete digestion by the regular use of so good and wholesome a remedy as Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets, you will have no need of nerve tonics and sanitariums.

Although Stuart's Dyspepsia Tablets have been in the market only a few years, probably every druggist in the United States, Canada and Great Britain now sells them and nowadays are them the most popular and successful of any preparation for stomach trouble.

SPECULATION IS CHECKED BY ADVANCING RATES FOR MONEY

Prices Are Irregular, Trading Shifty and There Are Even Slight Recessions, but the Average of the Market Is Higher.

[By Private Wire to The Gazette.]

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—Wall street, all things considered, made very little response during the week to the further events in the money markets of the world. Foreign security markets, practically every one, were sold off, acting under the circumstance in a manner normal to increasing monetary stringency and in accord with past experience, tradition and ordinary common sense. In Germany no secret was made of the fact that the second advance in the official discount rate of the imperial bank to 5 per cent was largely for the purpose of checking speculation and fortifying the reserves. Elsewhere in Europe the advancing market discount and money rates applied a natural check to speculative venture.

It can scarcely be said the local market, gauged by the developments of the money market alone and measured by the standards of the higher rates for time and call money and commercial paper, acted normally. The volume of business, both in bonds and stocks, showed some slight increase, and though mere totals of sales mean no actual relation to money rates on ordinary occasions, it is entirely anomalous when, with money rates advancing to a relatively high level, prices also advanced and the volume of business increases. Prices, to be sure, were irregular during the week and speculative trading shifted somewhat from railway shares to industrial properties. There were, moreover, some moderate recessions in the railway list, but these were inconsiderable when compared with the rather general and more extensive gains in the industrial quarter. The average of the market, taken all in all, was higher.

Nothing seems much clearer than that other considerations than the money market entered into the speculative operations of the week. Of course, the all-pervading optimism as to the future, based upon the almost perfect fundamental situation, furnishes a great sustaining force at the present time, and furnishes the readiest explanation of why, with higher money, speculative securities were not only sustained, but advanced. Whether, however, even with these highly favorable underlying conditions, it is wise for the speculative element to ignore the actual condition and clearly deferred tendencies of the money market, is another question. To do so implies a belief that the money situation is but one of temporary inconvenience, and of domestic application, one which men may muddle through for the present, reaping some special and extraordinary benefits when the clouds pass away in the future. Yet there is no assurance on these points. If there were, each man with gambling proclivities and a little money would have a fortune within his grasp.

If the stock market had experienced a normal reaction and normal hesitancy and dullness in the September period, when the crop-moving demand for funds began to make itself felt and money rates began to harden, one could share with greater confidence the opinion so generally expressed of speedy monetary relaxation and a very active advancing market in January. That that opinion is still held and unquestionably believed by many persons of the highest prominence in the financial district is unquestionably true. Doubtless to it is due in large measure the present stability and the absence of important or disquieting liquidation, and yet it seems clear if the prices are sustained and advanced now, they make demands on credit that are calculated to defer monetary relaxation, while the advances are discounting the improvement which was expected and which may be found to have already taken place when the turn of the year arrives. Certainly, if no accident happens in the meanwhile and the present tactics continue, a price level will have been reached that leaves little margin for further healthy improvement and which makes more dangerous to the public even than now any participation in the market.

Of course, appeals can always be made to the gambling instincts of the community, and such are peculiarly patent, at any price range with conditions of prosperity, active business, sustained railroad earnings and the like. But what else than disaster can be the outcome of a bull campaign started from the highest level of prices in the country's history as the sequence of a market that has had practically no reaction since June? The days of miracles are past and gone. Prices cannot continually advance. They have their limitations, whether upon the upward or upon the downward wing, and they have such limitations, as to advances, irrespective of great prosperity in a country. To read the continued outpourings as to the value of the farm products, the cotton and the corn crop and the like, that every dollar of the bake estimates was to run into Wall street and be made available for some wild speculative orgy in stocks.

It is clear the security market must in the end bow to the money situation, no matter how, for a time, it shows an inclination to ignore it. When reserves of the banks are down as low as they are at present, it is impossible to keep on expanding the obligations. The speculator may enter into competition with the merchant and raise the bids for money, and thereby draw some funds from the interior or from Europe, but high prices paid for the use of money, if continued, wear down a speculative market in time. The movement at the outset is wholly automatic. Some real holders of securities discover that it is more profitable to convert their holdings into cash and loan the money than to retain the shares, or some speculative holders find the tension growing too strong and attempt to obtain a speculative profit. The force of either operation renders it more difficult for others to retain their speculative lines. It depends somewhat on how great the necessities of the borrowers, how high rates are caused by competition and how long continued the interval of stringency, whether the process of monetary readjustment is conducted in an orderly fashion or violently in the security market. But it is always the security market that yields first for readjustment proceeds along the line of least resistance, and the speculative market is that.

REVIEW OF THE WEEK IN LOCAL MARKETS

Butter, Eggs and Cheese Unsettled—Flour Drops Another Ten Cents.

The week was conspicuous for the unsettled condition of the market in several respects. Butter, eggs and cheese all shared in this uncertainty and the last two commodities were so weak in the market several days ago as to give a suspicion of lower prices. Ohio cheese, three-fourths cream, was finally advanced one cent. The egg market is in an unsatisfactory state and dealers are taking eggs out of cold storage at a loss.

In the fruit line grapes led the trade. Receipts were heavy and the price was shoved down a little. This week the supply will probably be still larger and within the next two weeks the price is expected to drop when buyers begin to make their purchases for wine purposes. Apples were more plentiful in market as the winter varieties began to arrive. Nuts of all kinds were in good supply the latter part of the week and the price quotations on chestnuts went down repeatedly.

The vegetable market was well stocked. Potatoes dropped five cents a bushel at the yards. Sweet potatoes were plenty in market with a fairly good demand. Green goods were in good supply, but sales were not large.

The only change of importance in the grocery market was a drop of 10 cents a barrel on fancy spring patent which took effect the first of the week and was well sustained. The receipts of canned goods were much larger, but so far the prices have held pretty firm.

HAY AND GRAIN.

Receipts Saturday were: Pennsylvania lines—14 cars hay, 10 cars oats, 1 car straw, 4 cars feed, 4 cars rye, 4 cars corn. Baltimore & Ohio railroad—6 cars hay, 2 cars oats, 1 car straw. Pittsburgh & Lake Erie railroad—3 cars hay.

The market for the week was active. Oats have had a steady advance and at prevailing prices today they are not bringing "hay down" cost. The advance is not unusual at this season of the year, as oats are in such condition that they can be stored in the elevators and in addition to that reports indicate that farmers are not disposed to sell at present prices. Corn is very strong and will probably continue so until the new crop starts to move. Receipts of hay are not so heavy and billings for future delivery indicate that they will not be large for some time. At this season clover and clover mixed hay is being fed more freely. Hence the market is firm and active in that line.

Last Week Breaks the Record for Scarcity of Completions

Developments in the lower southwest fields during the past week were of the same order as have been recorded from month to month all through the year. Fewer wells were completed than for any previous week during the year. The work now under way and reaching completion was all started before the advance in the market and for the most part is located in the old fields.

While operations are not making any new discoveries that attract attention, the credit balance market continues to advance and is a source of gratification to operators and producers alike. On Wednesday last the purchasing agency advanced the credit balance market from $1 61 to $1 56 for crude of the Pennsylvania grade. The market is the highest it reaches any time during the present year. On the first of the year the market was $1 50, but before the year was far advanced the market was reduced and continued on the down grade till it reached $1 27 and remained at that point till less than four weeks ago, when it was advanced by 3, 10 and 5-cent jumps and is now 29 points above the lowest price of the year.

There is some guessing on how much higher the market will be advanced before it reaches top. The opinion is expressed that the aggregate advances are not sufficient to cause a general revival of development work in the fields, and nothing short of a combined effort in all quarters capable of supplying high-grade crude can bring about an increase in production to such a degree as to be a protection from continued drainage on the oil in the storage tanks. There is no question but the stocks of high-grade crude have reached a dangerously low point if the demand for that quality of oil is continued for some time at the rate that has been recorded for almost every month during the current year.

In the shallow sand districts the advances that have been made in the past few weeks will be sufficient incentive to stimulate development work. Such, however, is not the case in the deep sand territory. To develop the deep sand districts the average operator claims that the market must get up close to the $2 mark. There is a fair amount of deep sand territory that has not been closely drilled and can be relied on to furnish small wells. There are no large blocks that have been tested and held in reserve.

Neither the large nor small companies operating in West Virginia are holders of territory known to be productive that has not been sufficiently tested to indicate the caliber of the wells to be expected when fully developed. It is scarcely probable that any company operating in the lower southwest could increase its operations to such an extent that its production could be brought up within six months to what it was at this time a year ago.

There is always a chance for the discovery of a pool that may prove more prolific in production than the average. But the prospects have been greatly reduced in all parts of the lower southwest. Unless some strictly new producing territory can be found outside of what is now recognized as the producing areas, the pools discovered must of necessity be small for the reason that in the territory has been so thoroughly tested that the most to be discovered is congested pools, soon drilled over and then rapidly decline.

All of the deep sand developments have declined and now prove the truth of the statement made by the new production has for the past ten months come from the shallow sand districts. The only two pools that have made a pretense to keep up their production under fairly active development work have been the Big Injun, near Wick, Tyler county, and the Boreo grit field, on Yellow creek, Calhoun county. Neither has as great a daily production now as at the first of the year, but both are still furnishing some wells. The new discovery to the northeast of the last-named promises to furnish enough drillable territory to keep operations quite active for the greater part of the winter and if the wells are as good as the one that revealed the extension, they should prevent the production of the pool from falling very low.

In the shallow sand districts, in Ritchie, Wood, Wirt and Pleasants counties, the advance in the market has encouraged the starting of some new work. During the week one of the large companies holding a large block of leases in Ritchie county sent out six locations for new wells. When started they will be the first drilled by this company since early in the year. Other companies are getting ready to start new work in all of the counties named. The most of the new work will be located in the old fields and in territory that had not been previously drilled so closely as to not admit of additional wells.

Operators on the Ohio side are getting ready to start new work in many of the old fields and there is going to be some wildcatting for new producing territory. There does not seem to be room for any large fields in the counties that have been under development for a number of years, but there is room for many small pools, such as have been discovered at different times during the expired portion of the year. A big hole on the Ohio side does not condemn any large area of territory. Neither does a large producer indicate that a single location removed will not result in a duster. Drilling tests, even though they prove dusters, do not represent a heavy loss. The producing wells can be operated at little cost so that almost any kind of a producer can be operated at a profit.

The Keener and Berea grit developments near Woodsfield, Monroe county, are furnishing some very creditable producers and in that locality development work is increasing.

In Jefferson county the efforts to extend the new development on Wells creek are not meeting with much encouragement. The last two wells completed are very light.

The new development west of the Bakertown tunnel, Allegheny county, is the only local pool that shows any new work starting. Operators are now waiting for the completions to the northeast and if these tests prove producers the extension will call for the starting of considerable new work.

Is the Work Bearing Fruit?

Either a wave of sincere reform is passing over Allegheny or the police department was not feeling well on Saturday night. For the first Saturday night in many months not a disorderly house, speakeasy or gambling house was raided. As a result of this "suppression of vice" only six very common drunks were before magistrates yesterday.

LONDON MARKET HAS UNCERTAIN TENDENCY

Rise in German Bank Rate and Advancement of Russian Loan Has Depressing Effect.

[Special Cable to The Gazette.]

(Copyright, 1905, by New York Herald Co.)

LONDON, Oct. 8.—Business on the stock exchange this week has been dominated mainly by monetary considerations, the result being that an uncertain tendency has prevailed. The advance of the German bank rate Tuesday and the advancement of the Russian loan had a depressing influence and there has been a downward movement in most of the foreign stocks.

This week's bank return showed a great loss of strength. On Thursday the reserve was reduced to under £26,000,000 in consequence of the demand for £1,625,000 in gold for Egypt and the withdrawal of nearly £1,000,000 in cash from the bank for the country. It is not surprising, therefore, that the market is speculating upon early advance in the bank rate to five per cent, and was indeed disposed to look for such an advance this week.

Naturally, the money uncertainty has affected consols and other gilt edged securities unfavorably. On balance consols show a loss of a full point as compared with last week, the closing quotation being 88¾.

On foreign government securities Japanese issues again absorbed the lion's share of business and have kept fairly steady, prices showing hardly any change. Russians are also fairly steady, as while the 1822 and 1859 loans have fallen a point, four per cent rentes have gained one.

American railway markets have been in a very undecided condition and business has been small. The bank statement had very little effect on the market though the advance in the English-German bank rates exercised a decided influence, prices in the majority of cases having given way slightly, Erie showing considerable weakness.

DON'T COMPLAIN WITHOUT ACTING

Rev. S. Edward Young Tells of the Man Who Doesn't Count and How He Might.

SHOULD VOTE AT PRIMARIES

"The Man Who Does Not Count and How He Might Amount to Something," was the subject of the sermon delivered by the Rev. S. Edward Young of the Second Presbyterian church in the Alvin theater last evening. He declared that the man who complained, but did not act, was worthless, and announced that the man who condemned public officials, but did not use his privileges at the primaries in selecting good candidates, was complaining without cause. He said in part:

This is the man who did not count. He was a good man. Scripture uses of him the adjective describing the field that brought forth an hundred fold—fine soil in this fellow. He was just. Nobody could point to the law he broke, and his was the quality of the spouse of Mary who, having seemingly the best of reasons for blasting her reputation forever by public process, was minded to put her away privately. Esteemed in his community sufficiently to be elected to the highest elective body, the Sanhedrim, he graced the position with a noble bearing that wins a special epithet on the sacred page.

Then, too, gold and vast estates were his. Do these discount the rest? Do you really demur when some young man seeks your daughter's hand, showing all the perquisites? Do you hesitate and say: "But I am opposed, because he is rich?" Nevertheless, this man counted for nothing; nay, virtually registered on the wrong side in the most momentous issue of all times. I am outlining the case of thousands of men in Pittsburgh and Allegheny thus far, and as I go on to say that he waited for the kingdom of God, like old Simeon and Anna in the temple, and that he actually had taken upon himself discipleship to Christ. He wanted a back door into heaven and there wasn't any; isn't any.

He lives in about every other house along the street. He believes in everything good and somehow slumps just at the critical time when he should be there and be counted. He bewails the sad lack of righteousness in our public life and misses the primary, never fights to put in a high class nominee or strong moral plank in the platform and on election day votes "under protest." May he get to heaven—soon!

How did Joseph of Arimathea fail to count? He tried to hide his discipleship. He smothered his convictions till his manhood died, nearly. He was afraid of scorn and loss of place. I think he used to pluck Simon Peter by the coat in some back alley of Jerusalem and say: "I am with you and accept your Master' and that Simon Peter would indignantly demand, 'Why do you not come out boldly?' Several times, I reckon, in the Sanhedrim he struggled with himself to get out at least one stammering word of confession. He did not vote to condemn Christ, we know. He did not vote to clear Him. Oh, pity these magnificent nonentities! How they overdo when too late? This Joseph risked extra-limn, tomb-defilement and general scorn to make amends by begging and burying the body of the dead Christ. It will be too late one of these days to speak that appreciative word, to give that money, to pray that prayer, to accept that Christ. You have dilly-dallied long enough. If you mean to help your fellows, if you intend to follow Christ you have this hour to vote yourself on one side or the other—Which?"

PASTOR TELLS OF SLUMS AND HOW TO REMOVE THEM

The Rev. Dr. Warren G. Partridge Suggests More "Model" Tenements and Better Civic Inspection.

"Christ and the Slums" was the second sermon in a series on "City Problems" delivered by the Rev. Dr. Warren G. Partridge in the Fourth Avenue Baptist church last evening. He defined the origin of the term "slums," and said in part:

The word "slums" has come into common use within recent years. It is a word derived from mining camps in the far west, and it signifies waste. We use the word in referring to a dirty back street in a city. It refers usually to a low and dangerous neighborhood. Every city in the world has "slums." If the word "slums" is a comparatively new word, the thing itself is as old as humanity. Nineveh, Babylon, Rome and Jerusalem had their "slums."

I saw recently the notorious "slums" of Whitechapel and Westminster, in London. The environment of such neighborhoods is degrading. The crowded tenement is usually the nethouse of physical and moral disease. Think of 4,000 people living in one city block. Mrs. Booth found seven entire families huddled together in one room. Forty-five persons have been found sleeping in one room. Prof. Huxley once lived in the East End of London, and he declared that the "surroundings of savages" were much more conducive to the leading of a decent human existance than those in which many of the "East Enders" live.

Pittsburgh has her share of degrading "slums." The church must help in changing the environment and the people. The awful supply of ruined men and women and children must be transformed by the gospel of Christ. The gospel will supply remedies, physical, civil, moral, intellectual and spiritual. Christ visited the "slums" of his day. He gave His best to the fallen woman of Samaria. He came to seek and save the lost. Landlords should furnish better tenements for the poor. City officials should inspect more carefully the overcrowded and dirty tenements. Philanthropists should build more model tenements for the poor. We all should take the gospel of hope, righteousness, faith, cleanliness, intelligence and charity to the most degraded homes and the most hopeless denizens of the "slums."

CONDUCTS FIRST SERVICE IN RUSSIAN CATHEDRAL

NEW YORK, Oct. 8.—Archbishop Tikhon, of the Russian church in the United States and Canada, who recently transferred his seat from San Francisco to the St. Nicholas Russian church here, conferring on it thereby the title of cathedral, conducted his first service today.

Woman and Man Are Fined.

Magistrate Negley, at No. 4 police station yesterday, fined Mrs. Mary Octnek and Barney Esher $10 and costs each. Esher and Andrew Fahare called at Mrs. Octnek's house, 17 Irvin street, on Saturday night, and quarreled over something. Fahare was slashed across the face and had to be taken to Mercy hospital. When the police arrived the woman hid Esher and tried to deceive the police. Fahare is not seriously injured.

Delaney Wants Evidence.

At a meeting of the United Labor league last night a letter was read from State Factory Inspector J. C. Delaney asking for proof that the law was being violated in this district, and calling for specific cases where violations exist. The letter was placed in the hands of a committee, which is to make a detailed report.

ANNUAL APPOINTMENTS OF FREE METHODISTS

Conference Closes After Stationing Ministers—Will Meet at Tarentum Next.

[SPECIAL TELEGRAM TO THE GAZETTE.]

BUTLER, Oct. 8.—The twenty-third annual session of the Pittsburgh conference of the Free Methodist church adjourned last night. Ministers of the Free Methodist church filled the pulpits in nearly all the churches of Butler last evening. Saturday night a mission service was addressed by Rev. and Mrs. Smith, missionaries of the church stamission offering amounting to several hundred dollars was raised.

The conference closed its business sessions Saturday night after selecting Tarentum as the place of holding next year's session, and after making the following pastoral oppointments:

LAY THE CORNER STONE FOR HANDSOME CHURCH

Many Ministers Present at Exercises of Zion Congregation of Evangelical Association.

The cornerstone of the new Zion Church of the Evangelical association, Center avenue and Graham street, East End, was laid yesterday afternoon at 3 o'clock by the Rev. Christian Staebler of Cleveland, O., in the presence of about 2,000 people, including the 200 members of the congregation and their friends. Other ministers present were the pastor, the Rev. Andrew Woerner, the Rev. C. F. Schoepflin, presiding elder of Pittsburgh district; the Rev. F. Mueller, the former pastor, the Rev. Ernest Koehne, pastor of the Steuben Street church, West End, and editor of the church paper, the Family Friend; the Rev. R. Passanger, pastor of the Fifty-second Street church.

Sixty-two years ago the Zion congregation was formed and the old church on High street, between Wylie and Webster avenues, was built eight years afterwards. Occupying seats on the large platform were four old gentlemen who helped to organize the congregation. They are John Heller, Dr. F. Bese, George Gunderman and Frederick Stadtlander.

Before the cornerstone was let fall into its place the following were placed in it: German Bible, hymn book, copies of the church paper and Sunday school literature, names of the members of the church, Young Peoples' association, senior and junior, Woman's Missionary societies, a history of the church, daily papers and a program of the 50th jubilee held in 1892. The new church will cost about $75,000 and will be built of Cleveland bluestone. It will be dedicated about July 1, 1906. John H. Aufderheide is president of the church building committee, and Gustus Rice, president of the board of trustees. The structure will be more centrally located for the scattered congregation of Zion church than is the old church.

YOUNG SOLDIERS HEAR LAY SERMON

The Rev. Wallace Thorp Scorns Man Who Dares to Place a Dollar Mark on Time.

BOYS' BRIGADE MEETING ENDS

"Who dares to put a dollar mark on time?" cried the Rev. Wallace Tharp, in addressing the closing meeting of the convention of the United Boys' Brigade of America in the Nixon theater yesterday afternoon. The speaker in the midst of an eloquent period had stopped to define that inexpressible something by which the lapse of years is measured.

"Go out into the marts of the world," he said, "and meet the man who is moved by the commercial spirit. Ask him: 'What is time?' and he will answer you: 'Time is money.'

"It's a lie! Time is life, and life is fleeting. My young friends, you waste enough time in each year to read everything that Charles Dickens wrote, everything Bulwer wrote, everything Hawthorne wrote, and still have time to read your Bible."

Mr. Tharp was preaching a lay sermon to a characteristic audience of young people. Every seat in the theater was filled and the foyer was filled with trim young soldiers in blue uniforms and side arms. The stage was adorned with flags and banners. The greatest enthusiasm was shown and the two old hymns which are watchwords for the Boys' Brigade, "Onward, Christian Soldiers" and "Stand Up for Jesus," were sung with the patriotic "America."

The meeting was opened with prayer by Maj.-Gen. William Hart Dexter and the scripture lesson was read by Chaplain C. L. Thurgood. The Eighteenth Regiment orchestra and Miss Ruth Hay, soloist, furnished the music aside from the congregational singing of the three old hymns above referred to.

Lieut.-Gen. H. P. Bope delivered his annual address and told of the efforts he had put forth for the Boys' Brigade in the last 11 years in carrying on the work of the organization in Allegheny county.

He said it was a work that appealed to but few men, and that many forgot that they had ever been boys themselves. Too many men think of boys only from an economic value. It was true that they met with failures in their work, but it was due to the incompetency of officers or churches. The Sunday school only reaches the boys spiritually, but the Boys' Brigade appeals to their manhood and patriotism. In 11 years of work the speaker failed to find a flaw in the working of the organization. A good captain will make splendid boys, who look up to him as a model.

The speaker said he believed that the American boys were the brightest, bravest, most active and energetic of all boys in the world, because this great country has presented them such possibilities that it has stimulated them to greater activity and energy in the promotion of great achievements.

The meeting was closed with a benediction by the Rev. Dr. R. W. Grange.

EPISCOPAL CLERGYMEN PLAN UNION WITH RUSSIAN CHURCH

Peace Thanksgiving Services at Portsmouth Bring Matter to Climax and an Association Is Formed to Further Project.

[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS TO THE GAZETTE.]

CONCORD, N. H., Oct. 8.—A number of the Episcopal clergy of the diocese of New Hampshire have made preliminary arrangements for the formation of an association which will have for its ultimate object the union of the Anglican church with the Orthodox church of Russia and other ancient churches of the east. The organization is the outgrowth of the thanksgiving service at Christ church, Portsmouth, which followed the signing of the treaty of peace between Russia and Japan and at which priests of the Episcopal and Russian churches officiated.

The new organization will follow the lines of "The Eastern Church Association," of the Church of England, and will have branches in all dioceses of the Episcopal church in this country if the plans of the promoters are successful.

The first diocesan branch to be formed was that organized by New Hampshire clergy at a recent meeting in St. Paul's parish house here. The Right Rev. William Woodruff Niles, bishop of the diocese, consented to act as president of the New Hampshire branch and a committee was appointed to perfect the work of organization.

It is said that within the past six years the relations between the Russian and Episcopal churches have been growing closer, but until the thanksgiving evensong held at Portsmouth, there had been no general participation in one service by both Russian and Episcopal priests. It is pointed out, as an indication of a closer relationship that Nashotah Theological seminary of Wisconsin (Episcopal), conferred the degree of D. D. upon Archbishop Tikhon of the Russian church in America this year.

The two churches were brought closer together by the visit of the Right Rev. Charles C. Grafton, bishop of Fond du Lac, Wis. (formerly of Boston), to Russia, two or three years ago.

MEN HAVE NOT THE RIGHT TO DO AS THEY PLEASE

The Rev. L. N. D. Wells Declares That They Must Have a Master Worthy of Service.

"Have Men the Right to Do as They Please?" was the sermon theme of the Rev. L. N. D. Wells in the First Christian church of Wilkinsburg last evening. He took for his text I Corinthians, vi:19-20: "Know ye not that ye are not your own? For ye are bought with a price," and said in part:

There is no such thing as independent existence in this life. Everything is related to something else; all conscious life is related; human society is so constituted that there is a dependence and interrelationship which all must recognize. If men cannot but be influenced by your life they have a moral right to demand that the influence shall be a helpful one. Hence the rights of others demand that a man cannot do as he pleases.

If man's influence is to be guarded, his life must be mastered. Christ came and mastered it. The mastered man is the masterful man. The man who has never found a master will drift aimlessly upon the great sea of life and like a great vessel without captain or pilot is destined to destruction. If you are a mastered man you must do the bidding of your master. You are not at liberty to do as you please.

Christ must be your master. If He owns you in the church He must own you in the shop, on the street and at the polls, and your service should be worthy of such a master. Your master must have absolute charge and your subjection to him frees you from every other power. Do you belong to a political party? If you are a Christian you belong to Christ and are free from any party save as that party represents Christ in civic life. Man cannot do as he pleases in regard to the exercise of franchise. Remember you are not your own and He who bought you said: "Render unto Caesar the things that are Caesar's," as well as "Render unto God the things that are God's."

RANKIN'S NEW CHURCH IS DEDICATED TO SERVICE

First Protestant Congregation of the Borough Begins Its Existence Under Favorable Conditions.

The Christ Methodist Protestant church of Rankin, the first church of any Protestant denomination in the industrial borough, almost cleared its debt at its dedication yesterday. The congregations at the three services crowded the church. About $800 was raised on the debt at the morning service, and some $500 at the afternoon service, while last evening almost $1,000 was subscribed.

The pastor, the Rev. George H. Sisson, D. D., was assisted in raising funds yesterday by the Rev. George C. Sheppard, D. D., of Washington, Pa., who was the organizer of the Braddock congregation. He preached the opening sermon in the new edifice. The Rev. Dr. George Shaffer of Bellevue, who preached in the afternoon, also entered a plea for a reduction of the debt, and the work was taken up last evening by the Rev. Charles F. Swift, D. D., president of the Pittsburgh conference, who conducted the service, and preached the dedicatory address. Evangelistic services will be conducted each evening this week in the new church by different ministers.
